John Galsworthy's
new novel
THE WHITE MONKEY

Although no novel has come from Mr. Galsworthy's pen since 1921, his public in the past three years has grown enormously, due largely to the sustained and ever-growing popularity of "The Forsyte Saga" in its collected form. One can confidently predict that this novel, which introduces again some of the characters of the "Saga" will be the most popular book he has ever written. Published October 24. $2.00

The Red Riders — By Thomas Nelson Page

A full-length novel of the Old South, the last book by Thomas Nelson Page. $2.00

Oil — A novel by Walter Gilkyson

An exciting story, tense with emotion, which rushes to a powerful climax. A first novel of great possibilities. $2.00

The Dark Cloud — By Thomas Boyd

An adventure novel of the Mississippi of the eighteen-fifties, by the author of "Through the Wheat." $2.00

Keeping the Peace — By Gouverneur Morris

Gouverneur Morris has written a colorful and entertaining novel which presents a severe arraignment of the modern woman. $2.00

Three Flights Up — By Sidney Howard

Four long short stories, the form which John Galsworthy has called the best of all forms for fiction. $2.00

Passing the Torch — By Mary R. S. Andrews

A story of Lincoln which will prove a worthy successor to "The Perfect Tribute." 75 cents

The Broken Bow — By L. Allen Harker

A romance of the delightful sort which Mrs. Harker's public has come to expect from her. $2.00

Touchdowns — By Lawrence Perry

Men and older boys will welcome these thrilling stories of football. $1.75

MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS

Seeing Canada

By JOHN T. FARIS

Author of "Seeing the Middle West"

This splendid descriptive work on the Dominion of Canada and its glories completes Dr. Faris's popular Travel Series. It is a book that all who have been to Canada or who are going there, will want to read, for it presents a fascinating panorama of scenic beauty against the background of a romance which is concerned with both the wilderness and the great achievements of civilization. Possesses the same enthusiasm, charm of history and anecdote, and sureness of fact that have made Dr. Faris's previous books so deservedly popular. The appendix, "Automobile Roads in the Canadian Rockies," will prove particularly interesting to many readers. Frontispiece in color and 150 illustrations in doubletone. Octavo. $6.50

The New "Fleming Stone" Story

By CAROLYN WELLS

A crime in theatrical circles—a popular playwright found stabbed with his own pen, curiously wrought from a mediaevil dagger. When the trail leads dangerously close to pretty little Mrs. Guy Torndike, her husband summons Fleming Stone. Carolyn Wells at her best in her own inimitable combination of love and mystery story. $2.00

Harbottle

By JOHN HARGRAVE

"A book of more than passing interest. Indeed it is not too much to call it a novel of great importance as an expression of the spirit of the times. Many of the episodes are dramatic, and all are realistic. Mr. Hargrave owes much to H. G. Wells, but his thought is his own, though its great significance lies in the fact that it is also an up-to-date expression of the chief idea at work in 'the Mind of the Race.'" Saturday Review, New York City. $2.00

The Story of a Whim

By GRACE LIVINGSTON HILL

If a young man spells his name "Christie" he cannot blame fate when a pretty girl writes him an affectionate letter under the impression that she is corresponding with a girl her own age. But if the young man, because he is lonely, continues to deceive her, there is bound to be a reckoning some day. A love story fragrant with delicate romance and bright with irrepressible humor. $1.25

The Talmadge Sisters

Norma Constance Natalie

An intimate story of the world's most famous screen stars

By their Mother

MARGARET L. TALMADGE

With an introduction by ELLIS PARKER BUTLER

Here is a book every movie fan will want to buy and read and keep. It is written in a warm-hearted, motherly style that invests its famous characters with an undreamed of humaness yet which detracts nothing from the romantic glamour of their rise to fame. There is in addition, a chapter by Norma Talmadge on the requirements necessary for the profession of a successful screen star. Illustrated with many hitherto unpublished photographs. $2.00

Feeding Peter

By "CAROLINE"

A cook book that is different and one that will be read in the library for its wit and delicate thread of a story, as well as in the kitchen. An ideal gift for young housekeepers, for never have pots and pans, recipes and menus been more alluringly presented. $2.00

Everlasting Life

By WILLIAM W. KEEN, M.D.

Dr. Keen's former book, "I Believe in God and Evolution," came as a message of hope and belief to thousands whose minds were divided between agnosticism and faith. In this volume he has gone a step further in an attempt to settle doubt on a question which more than any other has troubled the hearts of men. Four large editions of his first work were in eager demand and his new book should appeal to an even wider public. $1.00

Stories All Children Love Series

Two Additions for 1924

DORA

By JOHANNA SPYRI

Author of "Vinzi," "Mazli," "Heidi," and "Cornelli."

All children love a story of a lonely child who finds playmates and for this reason, "Dora" should prove one of the most lovable of the Spyri books, for no little girl of eleven was ever lonelier than Dora after the death of her father, nor found more jolly playmates after she had gone with Uncle Titus to the pretty village in the Swiss Alps. 8 illustrations in color by Maria L. Kirk. Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork. $1.50

RIP VAN WINKLE AND THE LEGEND OF SLEEPY HOLLOW

By WASHINGTON IRVING

Pictures have a special appeal for children and in this edition of Irving's classic stories, the artist has done fine work in catching the goblin atmosphere of Sleepy Hollow and the old world charm of Rip's Kaatskills. 8 illustrations in color by Edna Cooke. $1.50

Cecily

(Elf Goldihair)

By CLEMENTINE HELM

The first translation to appear in this country of a very popular European classic for children. Cecily with her many pets is one of the most lovable and entertaining characters in juvenile fiction and will win the hearts of small readers. 8 illustrations in color and specially designed lining papers and title page by Gertrude A. Kay. Uniform with "Alice's Adventures in Wonderland" and "Through the Cloud Mountain." Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork. Octavo. Handsome binding. $2.50

Gritli's Children

By JOHANNA SPYRI

With the exception of "Heidi" this is probably the most popular of the Spyri books and is being issued in a handsome gift edition with decorations in two colors, insets, lining papers, page decorations and 14 illustrations in color by Maria L. Kirk. Translated by Elisabeth P. Stork. Octavo. $3.00

With George Washington Into The Wilderness

By EDWIN L. SABIN

The latest addition to the "Trail Blazer Series" and a particularly interesting volume in the series that has done much to popularize American history for boys. A story of Washington's pre-revolutionary career, full of dangers of the forest, savage trickery, and the thrill of fighting that boys love. Frontispiece in color and 3 illustrations. Portrait of Washington. 12mo. $1.75

UNCENSORED RECOLLECTIONS
ANONYMOUS

Here is the literary tid-bit of the season. In some it has aroused violent denunciation—in others the highest praise. It is the book all America and all Europe will read this year and has reached a high mark for summer book sales—two large printings required for America and five for Europe.

"This is about the most entertaining volume of intimate memoirs the reviewer has read for many a season."—NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE.

"It is an important contribution to continental biography not overlooking that of London, New York, and Boston."—Walter Littlefield, TIMES BOOK REVIEW.

It is reported on good authority that King George has read the book three times and it is easy to understand why in view of the remarkable revelation which it makes. Octavo. 340 pages. $4.50

FALL ANNOUNCEMENT

THE late winter and spring seasons were exceptionally interesting in the publishing world. That period saw the birth of two new publishing firms and two new literary magazines, events that were of decided importance. In addition there has seldom been a season when there have been so many books of the highest merit offered to the reading public. And this season has been a complete and unqualified success at Country Life Press.

We were peculiarly fortunate, of course, in having such books to depend on as Conrad's "The Rover," Tarkington's "The Midlander," Raine's "The Desert's Price," Marquis's "The Old Soak's History," and of course that universal favorite, Edna Ferber's "So Big." With this record behind us we take great pleasure in announcing that the spring list is only surpassed by the variety and quality of our fall list. We are only mentioning in the following pages a few of the outstanding features on the list, but for those who wish to know the whole story a postal card to us will bring our Fall Catalogue which is, according to William Rose Benét, in itself a rather worthy publication.

Doubleday, Page & Co. Garden City, New York

Rose of the World

By Kathleen Norris

MRS. NORRIS is one of the three or four most popular women novelists in America. She has a vast and appreciative audience and deservedly, for her work is always human and fine—two qualities that are rare. Rose of the World is a fast moving story of a very lovely girl who marries because she doesn't see any reason why she shouldn't. With the love for another man eating at her heart and with a mad husband Rose's life is impossible. How she dramatically solves her life problem and finds happiness makes one of the most splendid of Mrs. Norris's long list of successes. ($2.00)

Elaine at the Gates

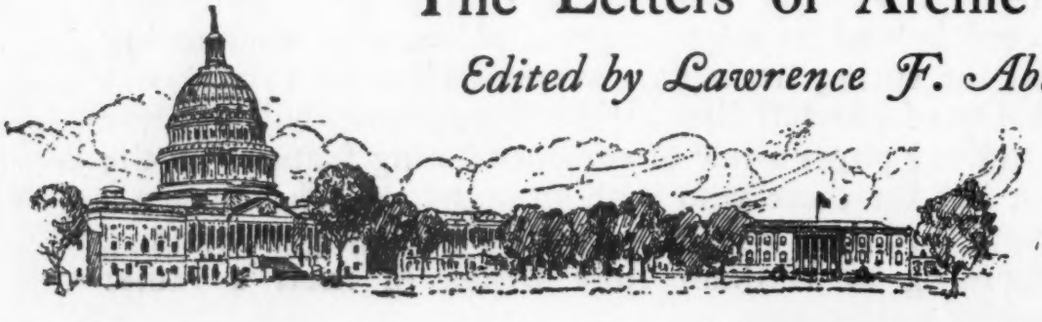

By W. B. Maxwell

MR. ST. JOHN ADCOCK editor of the Bookman has said of this novel— . . . he has never done anything so good before . . . it has all the qualities of a big seller."

Maxwell is building up a following in this country that will soon equal his tremendous popularity in England and Elaine at the Gates is sure to be the biggest seller he has yet published in America. It is a tremendous book with a powerful theme which presents many problems. Bound to be one of the most discussed books of the season. ($2.00)

The Letters of Archie Butt

Edited by Lawrence F. Abbott

THIS is the outstanding non-fiction title of the fall season. Archie Butt was military aide to President Roosevelt and a close personal friend. His almost daily letters to his mother and sister have been collected into this volume.

Lawrence F. Abbott of the Outlook who edited the Letters says: ". . . It is not too much to say, I think, that scarcely anything has been written since Boswell's 'Life of Johnson' which gives so entertaining a picture of the daily sayings and doings of a great man."

The most remarkable work of its kind ever published, it has been called. ($5.00)

Doubleday, Page & Co.

The Glory Hole By Stewart Edward White

THE author of Gold, The Forest and many other fine books has in The Glory Hole adopted a new form and new material with great success.
An average family in a small mid-western city inherits $12,000,000—romance. What effect does the consequently enlarged scope of activities have on the father, the mother, and the son? The story is fascinating in its development of character and in its incident. It is a powerful book that is sure to find a wide enthusiastic audience. $(2.50)

Mårbacka By Selma Lagerlöf

ONE of the most truly noble works that was ever published. Selma Lagerlöf is the only woman to win the Nobel Prize for literature, and she is unquestionably one of the few great writers alive. Mårbacka is autobiographical in subject but written in the novel form.
Thomas R. Ybarra says of Mårbacka, "there is absorbing interest from start to finish . . . a dozen characters . . . stand out clearly and convincingly. The reader's interest in Mårbacka becomes enormous . . . he has become to all intents and purposes an unofficial member of the Lagerlöf household." ($2.50)

Red of the Redfields By Grace S. Richmond

MRS. RICHMOND has endeared herself to hundreds of thousands of readers through the person of Dr. Red Pepper Burns. This new novel, with Dr. Red Pepper as the guiding spirit, has that same lovable human quality which has made the Red Pepper stories so universally popular.
The central figure is Felix Rowe, a brilliant young writer, who as a war correspondent was badly gassed and shot. His nerves have gone to pieces and Dr. Red Pepper in the hope of getting him to take a new interest in life finds him a home with his cousins the Redfields. Here is a family of seven, each member of which is a personality which reacts to the personality of Rowe in his or her own peculiar way. A charming and most interesting story. ($2.00)

The Life & Death of Cleopatra

By Claude Ferval

M. FERVAL is a master of the memoir style and in that style he treats the events and people of two thousand years ago and makes them almost contemporary. And what material! The greatest charmer in all history, the most brilliant and corrupt court of its era, a love story which is classic and the whole interwoven into a swiftly moving pageant of colorful history. A fascinating book and one which has all the qualities of a best-seller.
($2.50)

Doubleday, Page & Co.

The Dominant Blood By Robert E. McClure

THE story of the growth, physical, mental, and spiritual of an American boy who graduates from college in the first year of the War. He is half German and his problem is tremendous. But it is not in its problems that this book is great—it is rather because it is as perfect a piece of writing and consecutive thinking as we have ever published.

Booth Tarkington said of it: "A fine, big piece of work." ($2.00)

THREE OUTSTANDING JUVENILES

Mother Goose By C. B. Falls

Mr. Falls's pictures are marked by simplicity of design and beauty of color with the gayety and directness of the Mother Goose rhymes they illustrate. The A B C Book which this artist did last fall was hailed as an artistic achievement—the Mother Goose is just as fine. ($4.00)

Poppy Seed Cakes By Margery Clark

Auntie Katushka in her bright shawl, Andrewshek and Erminka, not to speak of poppy seed cakes, goat, goose, swan, chickens, dog, cat, red-topped boots, and the rest bring the right combination for nursery tales—little children and nursery adventures, presented with imagination and novelty.

The Petershams have used gay color and humor to bring out the amusing situations in the stories. An ideal nursery book for three to seven. ($2.00)

Clown Town By Dixie Willson

A ridiculously amusing story about the beginning of the circus. Even mothers and fathers must laugh as they read it and then have days of fun cutting out the sheets of circus tents and animals and people and setting them up on the green map of the circus grounds.

Lots of good color, clever nonsense, and incentive to imaginative playing.

For six to ten. ($2.00)

Best New Juveniles for 1924

THE YOUNG FOLK'S BOOK OF MIRTH

A Collection of the Best Fun in Prose and Verse

Selected by MARY ROENAH THOMAS

$2.00

No one questions the great importance of humor in our lives. Hence it follows that its proper presentation to the young is a matter requiring greatest care. If rightly encouraged, boys and girls soon learn that the finest and cleanest fun in books is the very best and jolliest, and any taste for lower forms is displaced. All the finer varieties are here represented, from the sweet merriment of James Whitcomb Riley to the gay abandon of Edward Lear. The so-called Classics are represented, along with selections from writers of the present day to show that humor is and has always been a living quality.

THE BOY WITH THE U. S. RADIO

THE NEW VOLUME OF THE "U. S. SERVICE SERIES"

By DR. FRANCIS ROLT-WHEELER

Profusely Illustrated from Photographs, Decorated Cover. $1.75

"The U. S. Service Series" is so well established as the leader of all lines of new books for boys that little need be said on that point. A score of new developments in wireless give pulsations to the pages of this work, where "Radio" finds an exponent worthy of its greatness. A timely book, which will stir the minds of all who read.

A GENTLEMAN FROM FRANCE

How an Airedale Served His Country

By CLARENCE HAWKES

AUTHOR OF "DAPPLES OF THE CIRCUS," etc.

Illustrations, and Picture Jacket in Colors by L. J. BRIDGMAN. $1.50

The great fondness of the author for animals, his knowledge of them, and his gift of sprightly narrative have never been better shown than in this appealing story.

THE SIOUX RUNNER

By D. LANGE

Picture Jacket in Colors Illustrated by HAROLD CUE. $1.50

In this story, Mr. Lange returns to the tribe of whom his first thrilling story told, the brave Sioux of the Northwestern Plains. Most of the events of the present book take place along the Missouri River between Fort Pierre and Fort Benton. The very names of the old fur-trading posts and "Indian-fighting forts," such as Fort Pierre, Fort Sully, Fort Union, Fort Buford, suggest adventure, romance, and history of the most stirring kind.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

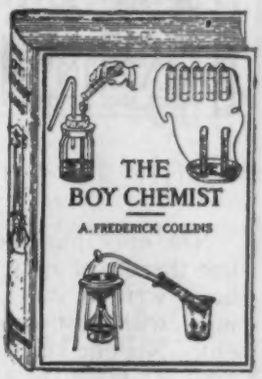

THE GEM-HUNTERS

By DR. FRANCIS ROLT-WHEELER

With Thirty-one Illustrations from Photographs. $1.75

The central figure of this wonder-story is an intelligent South African youth who, just previous to the Boer War, found on his uncle's property, not far from the famous Kimberley fields, a diamond of unusual value that led to most remarkable experiences.

THE BOY CHEMIST

By A. FREDERICK COLLINS, Author of "The Boy Astronomer"

With Frontispiece and 172 Text Illustrations. $2.00

This is an intensely interesting book of very great practical value. Of the many books of its kind, no other is so complete or so entertainingly helpful. The great number of excellent illustrative drawings are a feature of marked attractiveness and value.

ROBIN HOLLOW

By EDNA A. BROWN

Picture Jacket in Colors, and Illustrations by JOHN GOSS. $1.75

Sally Allison at sixteen declared herself capable of keeping house for her older brother, Sandy. So the two established themselves at Robin Hollow, the century-old cottage in Vermont which Uncle Alexander had bequeathed to his namesake nephew.

The fresh outlook, the skilfully drawn characters, the quiet humor, the pleasant, refined atmosphere give a charm to this book and win for it deserved popularity.

SILVERFOOT

By MAUD LINDSAY

Author of "A STORY GARDEN FOR LITTLE CHILDREN," "THE STORY TELLER,"

With Illustrations and Picture Jacket in Colors. $1.50

When a young Southern planter, went to join the Confederate Army, he left his beautiful horse, "Silverfoot," in the care of three enthusiastic little girls, who were faithful to their trust, but had exciting adventures while guarding their treasure. The atmosphere of the story is wholesome, the style simple, and the little heroines just like all warm-hearted, lively, and imaginative children of any period. For girls from eight to twelve.

BETTY JANE OF THE "HOUSE OF SMILES"

By ETHEL COOK BARRETT

Picture Jacket in Colors, and Illustrations by JULIA GREENE. $1.50

No one can know Betty Jane without enjoying her, and being the better for her acquaintance. She is no affected, tiresome little self-appointed saint, but a very live, active girl of fourteen. Betty Jane in artless, girlish fashion tells the whole story in a style that goes to one's heart while constantly arousing mirth.

THE REAL PRINCESS

By ELIZABETH G. THOMSON

Illustrations, and Picture Jacket in Colors by ELISABETH B. WARREN. $1.50

One of the best stories for young girls—and boys as well—that has appeared in a long time.

Marjory's mind is imaginative, and is stimulated by the report that a girl a year or so older than herself who has just come to live in the next house, and belongs to an aristocratic family, is a princess.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD CO.

THE ADVENTURES OF JOAN

By NINA RHOADES

Illustrated by ELIZABETH WITHINGTON. $1.50

Not only has there never before been such a book for children, but there are very few, if indeed there is any one else, who could have written it. Constant wit and humor and unexpected happenings, with just enough of pathos to touch the heart, are ever present. No one can stop reading this book when once it is begun. For girls of eight, to any age.

TEENY TALES FOR TINY TOTS

Told or Retold By SUSIE W. McGOWAN

With Picture Jacket and Twelve Full-Page Illustrations in Colors by FLORENCE LILEY YOUNG. $1.75

ROSALIE DARE

By AMY BROOKS

Author of the "Dorothy Dainty Books"

With Picture Jacket in Colors, and Illustrations by the Author. $1.25

The "Dorothy Dainty Books" are known the country over as the most popular of all recent books for young girls. Their well-loved author now presents a new little heroine, Rosalie Dare, who will charm the hearts of all readers, even as she does those of her companions in the story.

WHEN I WAS A BOY IN TURKEY
THE NEWEST "CHILDREN OF OTHER LANDS" BOOK

By AHMED SABRI BEY

Illustrated from Photographs. $1.25

Every new title of this series of independent volumes, each written by some one who has actually lived the life described, emphasizes the great value of these books. The author of this extremely interesting book was a member of a family of great local prominence, and was brought up as a strict Moslem, finely educated, and became an officer in the Turkish army. Unwilling to carry out orders to massacre Christians, he became an exile from his native land.

New Books from Beacon Hill

Autumn, 1924

IN presenting our list of new books for the Autumn, we take pride in the fact that in 1923 we stood seventeenth among book publishers in number of new titles issued, and in 1924 we hope to stand even lower, although we are confident that few booksellers do more business in the books of sixteen other publishers than they do in ours.

The following list has variety without excessive length. It totals fifty-two, of which thirty-eight are new titles and fourteen are new editions. We appreciate the problems of the quantity buyer who is urged to buy several thousand new titles each year, and trust him to realize that a short list can be as strong, in selling possibilities, as a long one.

We hope that you will put your best selling efforts behind these books, thus encouraging us to continue our present policy of "Fewer Titles and More Volumes."

Three Signs That Lead To Increased Book Sales

For Fiction Lovers

Masquerading Mary
by
Emma Speed Sampson

Author of "Mammy's White Folks" and The Miss Minerva Books

Mary—a "nursery governess"—beautiful and suggesting "better days", appears in the midst of Virginia's most exclusive social set. Her adventures with these people, from negroes to nobility, are recounted with all the humor and whimsy for which Mrs. Sampson is so well known.

Mary is as refreshing as clear spring water. Her laugh is contagious and her friends and foes are joyfully human. LAUGH WITH MARY. Price, $1.75 net.

For Children

Skeezix and Uncle Walt
by
Frank King

"Skeezix and Uncle Walt", by Frank King, creator of the Gasoline Alley cartoons, which appear in nearly 150 newspapers throughout the United States, was published July 15. The first large printing was sold before publication—the second printing of 25,000 copies is now ready.

"Skeezix and Uncle Walt" is printed throughout in color, bound in cloth and although designed and written for children, millions of people, young and old, are interested in the adventures of the Gasoline Alley folks Price, $1.00 net.

For Everybody

Andy Gump—His Life Story
by
Sidney Smith

Here is the funniest book of this—or any other—year. It is a riot of fun, 192 pages, with a picture jacket of Andy in four colors. The twelve chapters are illustrated in black and white by Sidney Smith, the cartoonist and creator of "The Gumps".

When Sidney Smith created Andy Gump he did a great deal more than draw an amusing picture. Andy is not a cartoon, but a reality, and if he were to coin a slogan for his life story he would say, "This is a book to be bought and not borrowed, to be loved and not loaned." Price, $1.00 net.

REILLY & LEE CO.
PUBLISHERS CHICAGO

THE books in our list have become known for exactly what they are—clean, wholesome stories of stirring adventure, and they are selling on merit.

HUMPTY DUMPTY

YOU won't be able to keep "Humpty Dumpty" on the shelves any more than they could keep him on the wall—Oh, what a book it is! A flavorous story—a group of vivid characters and a sting in the writing that makes each phrase stick in the mind and stir something there. Millions should read this book and it is likely that a hundred thousand will.

BEN HECHT

SCIENCE

THE outstanding feature in the book trade in the last few years has been the tremendous interest in scientific books. In this field Boni & Liveright have presented notable successes, and they are particularly proud of their representation this season. Among them are two new books by Dr. Sigmund Freud, the founder of Psychoanalysis, who investigates new fields outside of the libido. Dr. Lowie's previous book, "Primitive Society" is now in its fifth edition. His new book "Primitive Religion" brings a new point of view on this field of research. Can acquired characteristics be inherited? In "The Inheritance of Acquired Characteristics," the great biologist, Dr. Paul Kammerer, gives the details of his epoch-making experiments and shows how social applications may be made of his proofs that acquired characteristics are inherited.

"Unmasking Our Minds: Self Discovery Through Modern Psychology", is the best popular book on hidden human forces yet written. David Seabury is the well known authority whose lecture audiences number into the hundreds of thousands.

Keep your Science shelves up to date by stocking liberally on these books. An order—bringing circular on each of these books has been prepared.

BONI & LIVERIGHT GOOD BOOKS 61 WEST 48TH STREET NEW YORK, N.Y.

Since the writing of Mr. Masters' first anthology, a new Spoon River has come into being. Industry has changed its mode of existence. Factories have replaced the farm; the radio, the movies, the automobile have broken up the old ways of living and made for new traditions. Immigrant stocks bearing such names as Suscher, Chrysovernis, Lewandowski and the like have infiltrated the old pioneer stocks—the Rutledges, Painters and McDowells, and it is thus a vastly changed and new Spoon River that Mr. Masters gives us.

THE NEW SPOON RIVER

by Edgar Lee Masters

There will be a special limited edition, signed by the author at $10.00 in addition to the regular trade edition which we are manufacturing in attractive form with special die punched jacket showing gold stamped cover design. Publication date, September. $2.50

Boni & Liveright
61 W. 48th St., N.Y.

B&L GOOD BOOKS

More than 80,000 Copies of

"SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY"

have been sold and the sale has gone on steadily since its publication nine years ago. "The New Spoon River" will tap this vast reserve of enthusiastic readers; it will give them the Spoon River that has grown up since, with its changed life and the new elements in its population. And there is a new body of readers whom it will reach because it intimately touches their life. Stock up well in advance; have enough copies to make a fine display. The book will go over big.

Reading biography

—the new national habit

Queen Victoria, Ariel, Up Stream, The Mirrors Books Haunch, Paunch & Jowl, The Life of Christ are happy memories to booksellers. Biography is becoming a national reading habit—and true biography includes anything that makes human lives personal to us. There are big sales in the B & L biography list for this season. Helpful brochures on these volumes are ready for you. Order in quantity for an impressive showing of impressive books.

MY THIRTY YEARS BATTLE

By RABBI STEPHEN S. WISE

Rabbi Wise's book is the big autobiography of the 1924 season. A recent note in the Retail Bookseller commented upon the fact that non-fiction sales during the past year have jumped over fifty per cent. Books like this are the undoubted cause of such a tremendous increase. And it's better to sell a four-dollar book than a cheaper one. $4.00

ONE WAY STREET By BEALE DAVIS

This book, which is soon to be produced as a feature moving picture, will become the "smart" novel of the season. Beale Davis, ex-American Secretary at the British Embassy, writes of life in London's ultra-swift social set. His book will be discussed over the bridge tables of America. $2.00

JOSEPH PULITZER, HIS LIFE AND LETTERS By DON C. SEITZ

A thrilling and distinguished chronicle of one of the most amazing careers in recent American life. With many of the glamorous elements of the Page letters and the Bok autobiography, it has a dramatic intensity all its own. (Oct. 15—$5.00.)

THE COMMON SENSE OF TENNIS By WILLIAM T. TILDEN, II

The world's greatest tennis player discusses all phases of the game in lucid, stimulating, and authoritative style. This is an entirely new book written as the first volume in the new COMMON SENSE LIBRARY. (Aug. 20—$1.50.)

THE COMMON SENSE OF MONEY AND INVESTMENTS By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

The financial editor of The New York Evening Journal explains for the average man and woman the essentials of earning, saving, spending, and investing money—a genuinely helpful and fascinating volume in the new COMMON SENSE LIBRARY. (Oct. 15—$1.50.)

HARVEY LANDRUM, A Novel By RIDLEY WILLS

The story of a man with a weak chin—so exciting, so true, so human that the name "Harvey Landrum" may well become a common noun. Out of 241 novels submitted this is the only one we are publishing. (Oct. 1—$2.00.)

THE FIRST TANGRAM BOOK By F. GREGORY HARTSWICK

(Adventures of The Beautiful Princess in Triangle Land)

A new kind of children's book, with all the enchantment of the old. By using the four colored sets of "tangrams" provided with this beautiful book, the boys and girls can make their own illustrations to their hearts' content. (Oct. 15—$2.50.)

POEMS By IRWIN EDMAN

From sheer delight you read this verse over and over again. The volume contains a group of striking "Portraits"—ironic character-studies in verse of typical men and women. (Oct. 15—$1.50.)

THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE BOOK—First Series (Ready)
THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE BOOK—Second Series (Ready)
THE CROSS WORD PUZZLE BOOK—Third Series (Nov. 1st)

By PROSPER BURANELLI,
F. GREGORY HARTSWICK, and MARGARET PETHERBRIDGE

First a fad, then best-sellers, now an American institution, these books have become the current rage—thrilling, tantalizing, instructive. Cross word puzzling is "The Eighth Lively Art," and these two books, equipped with pencil and eraser, provide the real literature of escape. ($1.35 per volume.)

The MODERN USE of the BIBLE

296 pages. $1.60

September 30 is the publication date.

Live young college men say it has made the Bible over for them into "a pamphlet for the times."

No American in recent years has received such a welcome in Great Britain as Fosdick did this Summer. His trip was a continuous ovation.

No man, unless it be Henry Ford, is getting so many hundred thousands of dollars of free publicity in press and magazine and from the platform.

The great American public's sense of fair play can be depended upon to give Fosdick a square deal. It will insist upon knowing what he has to say for himself.

HE HAS SAID IT in "The Modern Use of the Bible," and several hundred thousand of the kind of people who side with the single man rather than the multitude who are out to get him are going to make it their business to buy and read THE MODERN USE OF THE BIBLE.

Be prepared.

Set your sales mark high and, then, double the order.

At a new low rate

You don't have to spend a lot of money to boost your Christmas sales. We have prepared the most attractive CHRISTMAS BOOK SHELF for you to distribute this year of any yet.

Every dealer can afford to distribute this catalogue

It is no longer necessary to spend disproportionately large sums for this form of advertising. No more interesting catalogue of Christmas books, and none more attractively gotten up, is offered than the CHRISTMAS BOOK SHELF. With the needs of the bookseller in mind we have fixed a new low rate for this type of catalogue. You can't afford not to circularize your prospects this fall and you can't do it more economically or efficiently than with the CHRISTMAS BOOK SHELF.

— but one dealer may arrange for exclusive distribution in his city!

We are willing to make an exclusive arrangement with one dealer in each community [not now covered] excepting the very large cities. Therefore you must act quickly to secure the right to distribute it in your community.

THE CHRISTMAS BOOK SHELF

Why it is the best form of advertising you can undertake:

1. 4-color cover and 2 colors throughout the text.

2. New large size, 7½" x 10½".

3. Interesting editorial articles, in addition to the lists and descriptions of all the new books.

4. No publishers' display advertising to interrupt the interest of the reader.

5. The back cover carries the book store's house copy where it is furnished.

6. Extraordinary low rates:

Single copy	$ .25
100 copies	9.00
250 copies	20.00

Autumn 1924

A HANDMAID OF THE LORD — Margaret Culkin Banning

This, the most ambitious novel Mrs. Banning has done, is a profoundly satisfying story of an American woman's adjustment with life. Net, $2.00

THE HOUSE OF THE ARROW — A. E. W. Mason

A love story of great appeal; human, lovable people; something brand new in French detectives; a plot that holds you in mid-air. Net, $2.00

THE TIGER'S CLAW — Albert Payson Terhune

An exciting mystery story with terrific battles between two dogs and two men. Net, $2.00

THE HOUSE OF BROKEN DREAMS — Christine Jope-Slade

A handsome young guardian and four rebellious Irish orphans mixed together in a Dickens-like manner. A story of great charm—with much good humor. Net, $2.00

DAVID BLAIZE OF KING'S — E. F. Benson

David, a youth of nineteen, is at King's College, Cambridge. The story bubbles with the gravely nonsensical concerns of carefree youth. A story to set beside "Tom Brown" as an epic of school life. Net, $2.00

THE SHOT — Sibyl Creed

Real, human people move in this unusual mystery story. We come to know their characters and to speculate on their actions. Net, $2.00

HIS SECOND VENTURE — Mrs. Baillie Reynolds

The venture was marriage—and a highly romantic one it was. The dashing colonel fled within an hour after the event and when he tried to return the comedy began. Net, $2.00

BEFORE THE DAWN — Toyohiko Kagawa

A remarkable story dealing with the agonies of a young idealist who burned with love for his fellow-men and with the stiffening of his spirit which led from dreams to action. Net, $2.50

SEMI-ATTACHED — Anne Parrish

The author of "A Pocketful of Poses" has written an entertaining novel with the same mischievous humor. Net, $2.00

TEMPERAMENTAL PEOPLE — Mary Roberts Rinehart

The first book of fiction by the famous author since "The Breaking Point." A collection of stories, several of them already being produced in the motion pictures. Net, $2.00

AFTER THE VERDICT — Robert Hichens

Was Clive guilty or innocent of the murder of Mrs. Sabine? And what did his wife do when she knew the truth? Unsurpassed even by "The Garden of Allah." Net, $2.00

A Vivid Story of Nevada in the Sixties

Following the Grass

By HARRY SINCLAIR DRAGO Author of "Out of the Silent North," "The Smoke of the .45," etc.

Undaunted, they chose to drive their flocks to some new country—to follow the grass, as sheeepmen ever have done.

A true and graphic picture of the settling of Northern Nevada, of the sheep episode and the beginning of the State's greatest factional feud—the war of cowboy and herder—and the resulting hatred and prejudice that were bequeathed to the generations to come.
"May rightfully take a unique place among the fiction which colors the often prosaic pages of pioneering history."—THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Second edition now ready. $2.00 net.

JUNGLE LOVE

By LOUISE GERARD

By the Author of A SON of the SAHARA

A WHITE WOMAN ALONE IN AFRICA—the throbbing night drums beating against her ears.

LONG NIGHTS—when the great lemon-colored moon looks down.
LOW VOICES—that whisper of love!—that whisper the counterfeits which pass for love!

That is the picture Louise Gerard paints in this tremendous romance of love and passion. It is a story about men—for women! It is going to be criticized, praised and defended because it is unusual, truthful and as daringly frank as the author of "A Son of the Sahara" has proven she can be. $2.00 net.

THE ROMANCE OF A WOMAN'S SOUL

Surrender

An Anonymous Novel

The author of this brilliant and defiant protest against the self-sacrifice of woman in love asks a pertinent question:

CAN LOVE BE DIVORCED FROM SEX?

There are many beautiful things in this excellent novel. It is startling, frank and different. $2.00 net.

Playthings of Desire

By J. WESLEY PUTNAM Author of "Whoso Findeth a Wife"

The tinsel and glittering lights of Broadway play their part in this strongly emotional story of the North Woods, where the flaming fires of a woman's love—srong, pulse-stirring—is in sharp contrast to the worthless dross that passes for love with heer husband. $2.00 net.

Hearts Afire

By STANLEY SHAW Author of "The Woman Tamer," "A Siren of the Snows," etc.

A powerful story of love and sacrifice, of human passion and renunciation, of souls laid bare in the semi-.wilderness of the Far North. $1.75 net.

The Whisper on the Stair

By LYON MEARSON

The thrills are continuous. The reader is swept along on a brimming tide of uncanny adventures that leap from one baffling chapter to another.
And it began in a bookstore! Romance and mystery in a bookstore. What!
The mystery fiends are going to buy this book. $1.75 net.

THE IDEA BACK OF

J. H. SEARS & COMPANY

It is not new—this idea. It is very old. Everyone approves of it. No one has ever been able to accomplish it.

Let us first consider the idea; and then see if it can at last be carried out.

In our country there are perhaps 25,000,000 families. If Ma and Pa and the kids in each of these families could read daily some of the books which for half a century have fascinated those who have read them—which are in fact the basis of our civilization—there would be more peace and contentment, less crime and disturbance, more constructive and pleasant labor, fewer courts and prisons, less legislation, more honesty and less hypocrisy in this extraordinary old world.

Every time the farmer cursed the middleman, the laborer fought the capitalist, the West growled at the East, the poor man pitched into Wall Street—every time anyone did any of these things he would know from his reading that it has all happened before many times in the last few thousand years; and that on the whole none of it is very new. All this could be pleasantly proved to everyone, if 25,000,000 Mas and Pas and groups of kids read books constantly.

This is the idea of which everyone approves. It remains to be seen whether it can at last be carried out.

Amongst the 25,000,000 families probably only two or three million do much of any reading, because books are considered high-priced compared with other things that seem more necessary. If, however, Ma, or Pa., or even the kids could buy every week an interesting book or two for the price of a movie show, it would mean in a year a library of one hundred of the great books of the world, each one of which could be used for a life time, as against two hours at the movie.

If J. H. Sears & Company can supply these books printed in clear type on the regular book paper and bound in the regular book cloth; if booksellers can sell them to the public at prices which bring them within the reach of all; and if the bookseller in doing it can make his normal profit—or perhaps a little better—then this idea can be carried out.

To do this, to spread the distribution into homes that never dreamed of possessing a book before, to create a little library where two or three are gathered together by a fireside—and to do it at a low price and a fair profit to everyone concerned, including Ma and Pa and the kids—

that is the idea back of

J. H. SEARS & COMPANY.

New Atlantic Books

John Barrymore as Richard III

The ACTOR'S HERITAGE

By WALTER PRICHARD EATON

A BOOK of keen interest to all lovers of the theatre, brimful of amusing anecdotes and containing choice bits of gossip about the theatrical figures of the early English and American stage. It is also a vivid study of the development of the theatre in America, from the earliest strolling players to such modern stars as E. H. Sothern, Jane Cowl, and Frank Craven. Among the subects are "A Theatrical Lion on Beacon Street," "Our Comedy of Bad Manners," "Weber and Fields; the Last of a Line," and "Legs in Grandpa's Day."

Profusely illustrated, 304 pages, tan boards, gilt top, $4.00

"LOUDER  PLEASE"

By EARNEST ELMO CALKINS

SOME thirty years ago Earnest Elmo Calkins came to New York, friendless, penniless and deaf; he is now at the head of his profession. His story is told in this book, and a more human, fascinating, humorous, and at times pathetic autobiography has not been published.

Illustrated, 260 pages, blue cloth, $2.50

THE GALLANTS

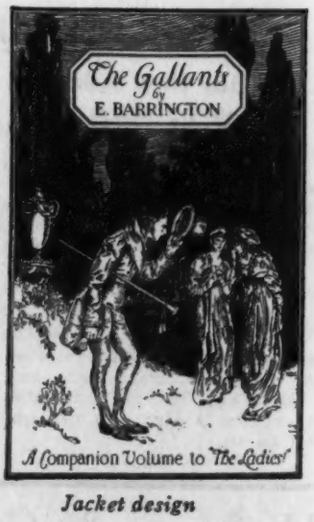

By E. BARRINGTON

Author of The Divine Lady

Where none admire, 'tis useless to excel
Where none are beaux, it's vain to be a belle

AND so E. Barrington, who loves to interpret the most elusive personalities of bygone centuries, has written this companion volume for "The Ladies!" With the same delightful mixture of fact and fancy, the mystery of favorite Old World heroes is revealed. It is a book of princely scheming and kingcraft games—a brilliant picture of the most romantic life-dramas of bygone times.

Illustrated with reproductions of old and beautiful portraits, 308 pages, blue cloth, gilt top, $3.50

BARRETT WENDELL AND HIS LETTERS

By M. A. DeWOLFE HOWE

Barrett Wendell

THESE strikingly characteristic letters, in which one of the most brilliant of teachers lives again, will stand as a permanent contribution to American biography. Barrett Wendell, for nearly forty years a teacher of English in Harvard University, a critic and historian, both literary and social, was also a most agreeable writer of letters. Mr. Howe has selected letters to friends in all parts of the world, illustrating the thought and life of Barrett Wendell's time. Readers of Mr. Howe's Memories of a Hostess, will find another treat in this biography.

Illustrated, cloth, gilt top, $4.50

MY DEAR CORNELIA

By STUART P. SHERMAN

CORNELIA

WE know of no friendship that has achieved so happy an expression as that of Cornelia and Stuart Sherman, new literary editor of the New York Herald-Tribune. This is a book of their conversations, a few of which have been overheard by delighted readers of the Atlantic. Every page is vivid with wit, humor and philosophy in discussing such absorbing subjects as the tendency of the modern novel, the Eighteenth Amendment, religion, marriage, and the modern girl.

Silk cloth, decorative jacket, $2.50

COLLECTOR'S LUCK IN FRANCE

By ALICE VAN LEER CARRICK

THE popular author of Collector's Luck and The Next-to-Nothing House spent last summer riding her favorite hobby in France. This profusely illustrated book tells her adventures. Through Paris, its byways, quais, and fairs, Mrs. Carrick searches for antiques and she tells the reader what he may expect to find and where to go to find it. Most important of all, prices are given, too.

Blue cloth, decorative design, $2.50

BLIND RAFTERY

By DONN BYRNE

Author of "Messer Marco Polo," etc. Cloth, $1.25; leather, $2.50. ("Messer Marco Polo" and "Blind Raftery," leather bound, the two in a box, $5.00.)

THE WAY OF THE BUFFALO

By CHARLES ALDEN SELTZER

Author of "Brass Commandments," etc. $2.00.
A Western with brains in it.

THE PASSIONATE ADVENTURE

By FRANK STAYTON

$2.00. A thriller in faultless English.

"A Pilgrimage" is the haunting story, in a richly beautiful prose, of a mother searching for her child that can never be found. A novel for readers who want the best in letters.

"Blind Raftery" is another small miracle of literary loveliness, of the size and in the impassioned manner of "Messer Marco Polo." Set in the little green island that charms the world.

"The Way of the Buffalo" is all that a Western should be—hard riders, quick shooters, an adorable heroine, a handsome hero, and lots of action—plus a poignant story of the passing of the cattle-man's old West.

"The Passionate Adventure" is an aristocrat among melodramatic stories. A plot and a group of high society and underworld characters that made the movie kings mad wtih joy.

$4.00. Illustrated. The story of Colonel T. E. Lawrence —a Kipling hero of real life.

AROUND THE WORLD IN NEW YORK

By KONRAD BERCOVICI

$5.00. Illustrated with many line drawings by Norman Borchardt.

"Glimpses of Japan and Formosa" presents the latest adventures of the supreme realist among travel writers. A Franck book is as certain and staple as sugar and flour.

"To Lhasa in Disguise" is the straightforward narrative of an Oxford Orientalist of American descent overcoming difficulties of a size and strangeness and number that take your breath away.

"With Lawrence in Arabia" gives the details of that almost miraculous quiet young scholar who went into the desert to study old ruins and came out with an army that helped mightily to win the World War.

VIENNESE MEDLEY

(Jacket in colors)

Price $2.00

The dramatic qualities of this first novel by the author of "The Diary of a Diplomat's Wife" sold it long in advance of publication to the First National Pictures, Inc. These large producers bought the motion picture rights not on the strength of the author's name as a popular novelist, for her previous successes have been outside the field of fiction, but because of the instrinsic human appeal of the story. For many months to come thousands of readers and moving picture fans will be making the acquaintance of Fanny, the beautiful Viennese Magdalen, who lightens the sorrows and privations of a family circle from which her indiscretions exclude her.

A New Gillilan Book

Laugh It Off

By

STRICKLAND GILLILAN

A NEW BOOK by Gillilan is a big event to the millions who have read his books or heard him lecture. He is America's favorite humorist and the most popular author-lecturer on the platform.

This book pokes fun at Fear. Many people do not know how funny Fear is. When a humorist-philosopher like Gillilan undertakes to point the finger of scorn at a subject hitherto looked upon as a bugaboo, something has to happen. Well, he pointed, it happened, and the happening is in this volume.

"Strickland Gillilan is the official dispenser of sunshine to the American people."—The Outlook.

McCLURG'S

FALL ANNOUNCEMENTS, 1924

The great majority of fiction readers want novels of action. Clean stories which provide healthy entertainment and satisfy the desire for adventure inherent in every human being. Such novels are always sure sellers.

Here are four good yarns, providing entertainment, amusement and the power to drive dull care away.

Branded

By ROBERT AMES BENNET
Author of The Two-Gun Man

A gay, light hearted, dare-devil, that was Joe Gale, cowpuncher at the Circle B ranch. His cousin, Parlen Brent, was cool, calculating and shrewd, more like the boys' tight-fisted uncle, Taylor Brent.

Joe's first pay check bought a silver-mounted saddle for Mary Orton. Parlen's started a savings account. Naturally, shrewd old Kiowa Orton favored Parlen in his suit for her granddaughter's hand.

And when miserly old Taylor Brent was found murdered, hot-headed Joe whom he had abused for years, was accused and tried. Kiowa, on the jury, called it justifiable homicide—she hated Taylor Brent—and Joe was acquited, branded for life as the "Homicide Kid." Parlen inherited the ranch.

Down and almost out, Joe came back. Fighting through a series of thrilling adventures he won—but only through the help of the vicious she-wolf Splay-Foot. Frontispiece and Colored Jacket. Price $2.00.

Moran of Saddle Butte

By LYNN GUNNISON

A slim, bronze-haired girl; her father, a Kentucky Colonel of gentle breeding and delicate frame; and a notorious cattle-rustling, brand-blotting, two-gun-shooting cowboy from the infamous Saddle Butte outfit—these made a strange picture as they stopped in the hellish little town of Hatchet. Well might Dan Moran's old side-partners in crime wonder what his new game was.

Especially when Moran helped Shirley and her father buy a pack-load of shovels, picks, and pans, and paid for it in—nuggets!

From then on it was a still hunt, a view holoa, and a hue and cry! With the whole thieving, murdering Saddle Butte pack in pursuit, and the still more evil gang from Hatchet as well. Gold! The sordid passions aroused by that word are dramatically contrasted with the sweetness and freshness of the love story. Price $2.00

Tarzan and the Ant Men

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
Creator of Tarzan and the Martian tales

Tarzan books are sure sellers. Tarzan fans are numbered by the hundred thousands and every mother's son of them is always hungry for a new book of Tarzan adventures.

Tarzan and the Ant Men is regular Tarzan stuff, but yet it's different. It has novelty, originality, and the intensity of interest which made Tarzan of the Apes such an enormous success.

Briefly the story relates how Tarzan in his wanderings in unknown Africa comes to a great thorn forest, impenetrable, according to native belief, and shunned because it is the abode of evil spirits. The undaunted Tarzan, however, finds a way through the awful thorns and emerges into an amazingly fertile country—the forest being really an enormous hedge. Here he discovers a race of pigmies about eighteen inches high, fairly advanced in civilization and living in vast community houses resembling ant hills. Tarzan sees many curious things and has numerous startling adventures. Illustrated. Price $2.00.

The Dancer of Tuloom

By MARAH ELLIS RYAN
Author of For the Soul of Rafael

Eight centuries ago there existed in Yucatan a stately city where dwelt a race which, for that time, had attained a high degree of civilization and culture. Now wild jungle has crept over the city wall, forest trees have taken root on the noble stairways, and the splendid streets are today the lairs of wild beasts and deadly serpents.

But inscribed on broken columns and ruined temple walls are the records of these ancient peoples; the story of their conquests and their loves. And from these records come this tale of the love path of an Indian conqueror of the twelfth century, a story of the call of man to maid old when the world was young but ever new.

Marah Ellis Ryan tells the story with rare sympathy and charm. Vivid characterization and an atmosphere charged with the mysticism of those old times throw a glamour over the narrative holding the reader enthralled by the beauty and art of the romance. Illustrated by drawings of singular interest. Price $2.00.

ANNOUNCING

Jesus the Man

An Historical Study

By Victor E. Harlow, A.M.

Here is the book you want for those thoughtful readers who have not been satisfied with the material about Jesus with which they have been flooded recently.

This book is just the opposite. It is not a panegyric, not an appeal to the emotions, but an accurate, scholarly study of the human Jesus in the light of modern historical, scientific and psychological knowledge. It is a thought-provoking book, which answers many problems of long standing, yet is a narrative, vivid and attention-compelling; accurate and profound enough to satisfy the scholar and philosopher and at the same time simple and entertaining enough to seize and hold the interest of young people.

It is an epoch-making book which is sure to arouse widespread interest and comment. It will be supported by a broad campaign of national advertising.

Ready about October 1st. Advance orders will assure your ability to care for the early demand promptly.

The Trade Policy of Yale University Press

We Depend upon the Trade for Distribution

Recognizing that the bookstore is not only the most satisfactory means of distribution for the public but also the most economical one for the publisher, it is our established policy to sell our trade books only through the book trade.

We Co-operate with the Trade

Appreciating how much the trade does for us, we endeavor by all means within our power to co-operate with the bookseller—by directing possible customers to their local bookstores (we never try to sell books direct); by imprinting circulars on important books (we send out no circulars ourselves); and by striking window displays.

We Protect the Trade

Realizing that the bookseller cannot always accurately judge the demand for a particular book in his community we guarantee to accept back for credit—if returned in good condition within six months from date of delivery—any of our books purchased on a stock order and remaining unsold at that time. (Naturally this does not apply to pick-ups.) A stock order may be defined as five or more copies of any one title, or fifty or more books (assorted) ordered at one time.

We Give Discounts that Pay the Trade

Knowing that the bookseller must make a profit on his sales if he is to give his best efforts to our books, we offer discounts that make it worth your while to handle them, to wit: 40% on orders for fifty or more books (assorted titles); 33⅓% plus 7½% on orders for from twenty-five to fifty books (assorted titles); 33⅓% plus 5% on orders for from five to twenty-five copies of one title.

THE AMERICAN COLONIES in the EIGHTEENTH CENTURY

By Herbert Levi Osgood. In four volumes.

First two volumes are ready; last two will be published in December. $5.50 per volume; $20.00 per set. Send for a descriptive folder.

Professor Osgood, recognized as the foremost authority in this field, has traced from the original records in British and American archives the institutional history of the American colonies in the eighteenth century up to the eve of the War of Independence.

"Mr. Osgood spent more than thirty years in contributing by every means at his command to a revaluation of the place that the colonies occupied in the British scheme of things and in the evolution of American political and institutional ideas."—Prof. Charles M. Andrews in The Nation.

QUEEN CALAFIA

A splendid, colorful panorama of the early history of California; a love-story which might have come from a medieval romance; a vivid appreciation of Californian cities including bizarre Hollywood; and an exquisite story of modern love in the beautiful setting of Madrid's stately palaces. All these are blended into the most absorbing romance yet written by the famous author of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," "Blood and Sand," etc. $2.00

Of All the Red-Blooded Heroes of Fiction None Surpasses

Thomas the Lambkin

Translated from the French of CLAUDE FARRERE by Leo Ongley

CLAUDE FARRERE is the greatest romantic novelist of France at this time. His power to thrill is known to those who read "The House of the Secret," and this tale of a pirate facetiously called "The Lambkin," from his ferocity when angered, will appeal to all readers, men or women, who are not averse to seeing life as it was lived in the Seventeenth Century, that marvellous period of pirates and buccaneers.

AMERICA

THE GREAT ADVENTURE

by George Philip Krapp

HERE is the story that unfailingly interests every man, every woman and every child, vividly told as so absorbing a tale of high adventure should be. I have given special attention to the making of America and the result is one of the most beautiful books of the kind ever issued in this country.

AMERICA is an opportunity. It will inevitably be one of the most popular books of the Autumn season if it is properly presented to the American public. I intend to back it by liberal advertising and publicity. I urge every bookseller to back it by watching his stock closely and missing no possible sales.

Sincérité

By MORTIMER DURAND Crown 8vo. $2.00 net.

This is a first novel of great promise. The plot centers round the effect on the members of a house-party of a remarkable wine called Sincérité, under the influence of which each person becomes his sincere self completely, and abandons all pose. The reader who has settled down to enjoy what is apparently to be a lively symposium (with emotional and romantic complications thrown in) suddenly finds himself plunged into a bewildering detective mystery.

DEAD RECKONINGS IN FICTION

By DOROTHY BREWSTER and ANGUS BURRELL

Criticism, to most people, suggests faultfinding rather than illumination. The authors of this book are more concerned with understanding our modern fiction—Dostoevsky, D. H. Lawrence, May Sinclair, Henry James, Katherine Mansfield, Chekhov, Anatole France—than in pronouncing it guilty or not guilty.

Principles of Merchandising

By MELVIN T. COPELAND, Ph.D.
Professor of Marketing, Director of Bureau of Business Research, Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University

HERE is a book in which the author, a long-recognized authority on marketing, builds up a comprehensive, consistent body of marketing theory, backed up with actual facts figures and data from the experiences of literally hundreds of business firms. The relation of marketing theory to orthodox economic theory is definitely indicated and certain neglected portions of orthodox economic theory effectively amplified. Specifically, the real effect of merchandising efforts of business concerns upon demand is set forth in detail. 384 pages; 29 tables; 17 charts. Net, $4.00

Principles of Investments

By JOHN E. KIRSHMAN, Ph.D., Professor of Finance, College of Business Administration, University of Nebraska.

BRIEFLY, the author sets forth definitely the pivotal points of the risk element and price determination. After a discussion of the elementary concepts of investment, he takes up the leading forces in the supply of and the demand for capital funds, and the returns from investments. Changes in security prices through current market fluctuations as well as long time trend in general business conditions, are discussed, together with the underlying economic reasons. 928 pages. Illustrated. Net, $5.00

Introduction to Advertising

WINDOWS FACING WEST
by Virginia MacFadyen

A biography of a beautiful and successful mistress. $2.00 net

39 West 8th Street

JIM TULLY jumped his first blind baggage at twelve, with the twin fears of the orphanage and reform school urging his steps—

Then for years he was a derelict of the roads—

From Calgary to Chihuahua his red head, his quick fists and the song on his lips were known.

He tells his true story in BEGGARS OF LIFE, A HOBO AUTOBIOGRAPHY.

If human interest, vivid experience, truthful reporting and a fine feeling for the English language make a good book and a saleable one, then Jim Tully's

BEGGARS of LIFE

should be way up in the forefront of the Fall's best sellers. $3.00 net

REPEAT BUSINESS is the ultimate test of a customer's approval. Your customers buy from you each year only if they feel that they are getting satisfaction—buying a dollar's worth for every dollar. Buyers of THE CHRISTMAS BULLETIN reorder it each year because they are satisfied—because there is a profit in it for them. It is designed to help dealers sell more books: if it makes sales it is successful and dealers repeat their orders from year to year. Renewed orders each year are the best possible proof of its value.

Almost every dealer who used THE CHRISTMAS BULLETIN in 1922 used it again in 1923; more than half of last year's users have already re-ordered for this year.

Booksellers will distribute more than 150,000 copies of THE CHRISTMAS BULLETIN among their customers this Fall. Judging by the returns of previous years more than 45,000 additional orders—of from one to a dozen books each—will be sold that will be directly traceable to THE CHRISTMAS BULLETIN.

It is decidedly worth while for any Bookseller to make the small investment necessary to get his share of these extra sales. The price includes your own imprint on the front cover, a mailing envelope, an order blank inserted in the catalog and a return envelope for the convenience of your customers. Use the coupon below—today—to order your copies. The edition is limited and more than 100,000 copies have already been sold.

YOURS is one of the Better Shops. You Sell books, not only because there's money in them if handled rightly, but because bookselling is a profession that interests you.

Your customers are the intelligent members of your community. Every person who has an idea beyond his daily occupation, comes to you sooner or later for the one commodity that civilized men and women have to have—books. Sometimes you suspect that there are a great many intelligent men and women who ought to be buying books from you and who don't. People who are not necessarily highbrows but who like a good story or an exciting yarn that will not insult the probabilities.

The question is: How to keep these customers and potential customers interested in books, and how to remind them constantly and insistently that you have the books that they want to read?

May we suggest that THE BOOK REVIEW is the answer?

How Books Are Sold in Chicago

Publishers:

As you know, books are sold rather than bought. There is no mad clamor for books; no "book riots" as there have been bread riots. Still, the market is always receptive, and books are not hard to sell—if brought to the attention of buyers through efficient mediums.

That publishers who follow this line of reasoning in Chicago are making a success is reflected in the distribution of book advertising among the Chicago newspapers. Chicago is a vast and ever growing market—and The Chicago Daily News is its outstanding medium for the sale of books, as this table shows.

Book advertising in Chicago papers for the first eight months of 1924:

	Agate Lines	Comparison Agate Lines
The Daily News	71,081	71,081
The Daily Tribune	49,054	49,054
The Post	40,255
The Daily Herald-Examiner	1,875
The American	782
The Journal	44
The Sunday Herald-Examiner	5,796
The Sunday Tribune	2,622

The Daily News leads the next highest score by 22,027 lines.

This has been going on for years, and is of significance and value to all publishers of worth while books. Selling more books in Chicago is largely a matter of increasing your advertising appeal in a medium to which the greater part of literate Chicago looks for book information and guidance.

The Chicago Daily News

First in Chicago

Note: If you will "listen in" any Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock to Radio Station WMAQ—The Chicago Daily News' own broadcasting station—you will hear Book Editor Harry Hansen of The Daily News "telling the world" about books.

The Daily News was the first newspaper to broadcast book talks, and the response from the public has been gratifying. The talks further stimulate interest in The Wednesday Book Page.

To sell a book—

There is no better place to sell books than in the Boston Market. The per capita expenditure for books sold through bookstores is about $1.50 in Boston—as against about 45c for the country at large.

To a great extent this showing is due to the Wednesday and Saturday Book Section and the column of "Bookstall Gossip," Mondays and Thursdays, of the Boston Evening Transcript, which for extent of review and reader interest is unequalled.

In recognition of this obvious superiority, publishers during the eight months ended August 31, 1924, placed 91,830 lines of advertising in the Boston Evening Transcript — and 53,977 lines in the second paper. Boston Retail Book Dealers (who are right on the ground) placed 31,235 lines in the Transcript—and 16,211 lines in the second paper.

A new plan for book sales promotion

EVERY publisher, sooner or later, comes face to face with this problem: on his list are one or more exceptionally strong titles whose merits far exceed their sales. In a season for which a dozen or more good books have been announced, any one of which might reasonably become a best seller, none of them does.

The time to get after that situation is before publication if possible. If the advance sales of your "best bets" do not come up to expectations, consider the service that an outside mind, expert in every angle of book production and promotion, can bring to the problem. A campaign, of newspaper and magazine publicity for the book and its author; a new twist to your advertising; a series of unusual broadsides to the trade; the finding and exploitation of specially interested audiences; can be planned effectively to meet the situation. It may be that a single suggestion, coming fresh from outside your office but from direct contact with the book publishing and retailing trade as a whole, would be effective. Perhaps a change in the appearance of the book itself. . . . In any case, whether it is a whole list or a single book that needs promotion, the cost of the service, regularly employed, is probably smaller than you imagine.

Mr. Spier has had the satisfaction of serving during the past 14 months these organizations among others in the book field: The American News Company, Inc.; D. Appleton & Co.; Albert & Charles Boni; R. R. Bowker Co.; Brentano's, Inc.; Chelsea House; National Association of Book Publishers; Simon & Schuster, Inc.; Street & Smith.

OLD GLASS, European and American

By N. HUDSON MOORE

Author of "The Old Clock Book" etc.

A complete account of the development of glass making in Europe and America. As a source book it will prove invaluable to collectors looking for an adequate treatment of this subject. The color, composition and workmanship of glass products as manufactured in different countries is minutely described and methods of distinguishing genuine old glass are fully explained. To our knowledge it is the only book that covers American glass. 265 unusually fine illustrations from photographs. Boxed, net, $10.00.

ANGKOR THE MAGNIFICENT

By HELEN CHURCHILL CANDEE

Author of "The Tapestry Book," etc.

This travel story of the city of Angkor in Indo-China glows with the romance of court life in the richest town of its day—then tells of its fall. Almost incredible is the tale of the loss of such high civilization in the engulfing jungle, of its centuries of oblivion and then its recent discovery by Europeans. Now Angkor is one of the talked-of wonders of the world and offers to tourists one of the few remaining unspoiled, little explored places to visit. A novelty in buried cities for those who travel by steamer or beside the hearth fire! Of special value to architects and artists. 79 striking illustrations from photographs and a map. Boxed. Net $5.00.

BEAUTIFUL MEXICO

By VERNON QUINN

Author of "Beautiful America"

The fascinating story of Mexico told in a way that stresses its lovelier side—the romance of the country and the beauty of its scenery. The story is interspersed with Indian legends and tales of strange customs practiced by the Indians of today. It begins with the long pre-historic Mexico and goes through the Huerta Revolution, presenting in a thoroughly comprehensive and readable way, the beauty and charm of our neighbor to the south. An ideal book to suggest for the traveler and a splendid and entertaining book for the stay-at-home. Thirty-nine photographs and a map. Boxed. Net $4.00.

ISVOR

By PRINCESS BIBESCO

Author of "The Eight Paradises"

A unique volume of impressions of a strange and alien civilization, picturing the life of the Roumanian peasant with an almost uncanny understanding and a contagious sympathy. The book is a delightful blending of folk lore, folk songs and a generous woman's sincere effort to help a people who still think and act on lines that were old when Rome was in its infancy—all told with simplicity and charm. The Princess Bibesco, unlike her cousin Elizabeth Bibesco, daughter of England's ex-Prime Minister, is a Roumanian by birth and by marriage. Translated by Hamish Miles. Boxed. Net $2.50

EVERYWHERE

By HENRY SAVAGE LANDOR

The greatest living explorer writes the complete story of his exciting experiences in every part of the world. No other world traveler has had adventures of such universal interest or met so many famous men and women. From beginning to end it is an absorbingly interesting story, written with a straightforwardness of style and an exuberance that characterizes this remarkable man. *Illustrated. Two volumes. Boxed. A story whose vista of today's Oregon Trail widens and opens backward through the days of American pioneering. 2nd Printing. Net, $2.00.

SAILS OF SUNSET

By CECIL ROBERTS

Author of "Scissors"

In this swiftly moving tale, a young English aristocrat is roused by the mystery and beauty of an Italian village girl. He starts out to win and woo her in a story whose background shifts from Venice to color-drenched Chioggia, an old-time fishing village on the Adriatic. Net $2.00.

THE HIDDEN PLAYER

By ALFRED NOYES

A group of unusual short stories which show that the famous poet can write vivid, imaginative prose as successfully as poetry. The stories are varied, some humorous, some exciting or mysterious, but each one is brought to a dramatic conclusion by the skilled hand of a master story teller. Net $2.00.

WARNING

By PAMELA WYNNE

Author of "Ann's An Idiot"

The strange, colorful life of India is the background for an exiciting story—at times pathetic—whose heroine is as wistful and lovable as the popular Ann. In spite of many trying and exciting experiences, Joan wins ultimate happiness. It is a vivid tale and dramatic throughout. Third Printing. Net $2.00.

THE SINGLE HEART

By J. E. BUCKROSE

Author of "Down Our Street"

Why do thousands of beautiful women fail to find a mate? This novel gives an illuminating explanation. An entrancingly human story with the same delicious humor and excellent character drawing that distinguishes the author's earlier work. Net $2.00.

SOME ASPECTS OF MODERN POETRY

By ALFRED NOYES

The famous poet discusses the principles of English poetry from an entirely new viewpoint—not that of the Victorian period or even that of the last decade, but that of the period which poetry is now entering. These essays are a challenge to all who wish to break down the continuity of tradition. Noyes is sure of his ground and makes no concessions. His writing is sane, analytical, brilliant and his reasons sound. It is a book that is not only an important addition to the field of letters, but will have a marked impression on contemporary thought. Net, $2.50.

NEW STOKES BOOKS OF UNUSUAL INTEREST

FIRST AID TO THE OPERA-GOER

By MARY F. WATKINS

A book that is really a "first aid" for all who force themselves to the opera. It makes the plot delightfully understandable and the music a real joy. It interprets the opera so that one listens with anticipatory pleasure for passages that can be now understood. These are not dry-as-dust synopses, but charming story-plots written in a witty, breezy style. For those who live away from opera and must be deprived of actual performances, this book will be a rare treat; for they interpret while they entertain. Antonio Scotti has written the Introduction. An excellent book for gift-making. Illustrated. Net $3.00.

Distinguished American Artists Series

JOHN SINGER SARGENT
JAMES McNEIL WHISTLER

Edited by NATHANIEL POUSETTE-DART

With the addition of these two popular artists to this series, the possibilities for the sales of the volumes as inexpensive, distinctive gifts are immensely increased. Each volume contains sixty-four reproductions, showing the varied characteristics of the artist who is the subject of the book, together with an interpretation and appreciation of his work. Included also are a portrait of the artist and a list of prizes and awards and the galleries in which he is represented. Each net $1.00.

THINGS I KNOW About Kings, Celebrities and Crooks

By WILLIAM LE QUEUX

Aside from his novel writing, Mr. LeQueux has been a wanderer over the face of Europe and has been associated with so many kinds of people from Emperors to paupers, from saints to scoundrels that he has practically lived several lives in one. His adventures are here recorded in chapters intensely interesting, full of thrills and humor. Illustrated. Net $4.00.

THE ICELAND FISHERMAN (Pêcheur d'Islande)

By PIERRE LOTI

One of the best of Pierre Loti's picturesque stories. It tells most sympathetically the story of the Breton fishermen who go every summer to the dangerous shores of Iceland for the catch of fish on which their livelihood depends. And in particular it is concerned with the fortunes of Jean Gaos and the beautiful Gaud Neyel whose love idyll is one of the most charming that Loti ever told. Illustrated in color. Net $4.00.

FELLOW-TRAVELLERS

By HORACE ANNESLEY VACHELL

Horace Annesley Vachell, playwright, novelist, man of the world, has known intimately most of the notable personalities of the last half century. His reminiscences, therefore, cover wide ground and give an absorbingly interesting picture of the literary and artistic world here and abroad. Illustrated. Net $4.00.

Women's Clubs Back Broad Book Programs

Full Details of a Remarkable Two Year Plan

The Slogan of 3,000,000 Women is "Let Literature Serve Life."

Better Books

AT the recent biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, we recognize the power of the written word to bring us an interpretation of many of the problems of our daily living as well as a message of beauty,

BE It Resolved, that we commend the serious consideration of literature upon club programs as a vital force; that we encourage the ownership of more and better books in the home; that we continue to co-operate with librarians in the observance of "Children's Book Week" and that we urge greater discrimination in the purchase of contemporary books.

WHEREAS, we have determined, by actual survey, our attitude toward certain modern literary movements, we protest against being included among the readers who are demanding the sensational, morbid and salacious stories and poems that are being published and exploited,

BE It Resolved, that we uphold the ideals of the Federation as expressed in the recent statement, "What Two Million Women Want from the Publishers," and that we purchase or review only those books worthy the name of enduring literature.

BE It Also Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the National Association of Book Publishers and the Literary Reviews.

Following up these resolutions the Chairman of the Division of Literature, Mrs. L. A. Miller of Colorado Springs has sent the following bulletin to every State Chairman:

DEAR MADAM CHAIRMAN:

How can we make literature serve life most fully thru our club organization during this coming biennial period? Our recent survey indicates that fully one-half of the federated clubs are giving serious consideration to literature upon their programs, now may we direct this returning interest to the service of all our federation projects?

Literature and the American Home

THE keynote of the next two years will be the American Home and our first care must be to link literature as closely as possible to the central thought of the administration.

To this end three new bulletins have been prepared, the American Home Series:

Number 1, The Home Library, urges the ownership of good books and presents a list of 200 selected volumes.* Also two smaller collections, compiled after a study of more than thirty similar lists prepared by state chairmen and over 200 statements of what club women want from the publishers.

Number 2, The Book and the Child, contains suggestions for cooperation with teacher and librarians in the observance of Children's Book Week.

Number 3 is an announcement of our third contest: (a) The Home Reading Budget, (b) Short poem on some phase of American Home.

Literature and International Understanding

THE relation of literature to international understanding is so vast and far-reaching that we may hope to touch upon it merely in a single bulletin. Since the drama deals so largely with human problems and human conflict it has been chosen for the first international program.

International Series, Number 1—A study of Contemporary Drama.

Literature and Life

IF we require a slogan to incite us during the coming months we may well choose "LET LITERATURE SERVE LIFE!" In order that we may better understand how the written word has challenged and inspired us to action thru the various departments of federation work a bulletin has been prepared to illustrate the contact of literature with every other federation department, with a suggestive program for clubs.

Special Helps for the Small Clubs

IT is not always possible for the small club without library facilities to use the bulletins of this division with the suggested references. Special programs are necessary for such clubs.

A list of suggestions of available helps together with ten specimen programs telling just what material is necessary, where to get it, and how much it costs for a year's work will soon be ready. In no instance does the expense exceed ten dollars and in some of the programs it is not more than five dollars.

It includes two travel programs—All Around the World and Seeing America First, Makers of American Letters, Development of the Drama, Modern Drama, The One Act Play in America, Contemporary Fiction, the Short Story and Eminent Americans: (a) Men, (b) Women.

COPIES OF ALL THESE BULLETINS WILL BE SENT TO EACH STATE CHAIRMAN JUST AS SOON AS THEY ARE OFF THE PRESS

Looking Backward and Checking Up Our Accounts

SIXTEEN states qualified for the Honor Roll of this Division by reporting all the projects carried out during the last biennial period. A copy of last year's plans will be sent to any chairman who did not report, upon request. Continued recognition of state writers, preservation of literary shrines and appreciation of good books is urged. The International Book Review for June, 1924, carries a full story of our contest, "What Two Million Women Want from the Publishers"; chairmen should have this in their file. (Funk and Wagnalls, New York—Price 25 cents). The prize poem was printed in the August number of The Lyric, published by Virginia Taylor McCormick, Norfolk, Virginia—Price of copy 15 cents.

* Reprints of the list as printed in the Publishers' Weekly of August 30th can be bought as six page circular at $1.50 per 100; $6.00 per 500.

 Special club programs obtainable from the National Association of Book Publishers, 334 Fifth Ave., New York.

Looking Forward

OUR Advisory Committee has been strengthened by two new names: Mrs. Winter, whose brilliant service as Chairman of Literature preceded her more brilliant administration as President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will permit us to call upon her for counsel in "times of hesitation." She will direct us to greater usefulness along the lines of international study and understanding. Miss Sarah C. N. Bogle, Assistant Secretary of the American Library Association, will cooperate with advice upon booklists. The Chairman acknowledges many courtesies from the A. L. A.

New Chairman of Community Drama

THE growing interest in play production has made a special chairman for this work necessary. (Mrs.) Pearl Bennett Broxam, of Iowa, formerly connected with the department of Dramatic Art in Drake and Des Moines Universities, has consented to serve the clubs in this position. Mrs. Broxam is a teacher and director of long experience and has made good as Chairman of Community Drama in her own state. A bulletin will be available later.

Mrs. Harry Rice Continues as Chairman of Bible Literature

THE Committee on Bible Literature will re-print several valuable outlines and has a few new ones. Clubs are especially recommended to study "Women of the Bible," outline and text by Mrs. John C. Buchanan. Write to Mrs. Rice for details.

Recapitulation of Plans and Projects for the Coming Year

1—Emphasis upon literature in its largest sense: as a challenge to fuller living; as an influence in the American Home; as an aid to international understanding and as a contact with life thru every other department of work. (Bulletins upon all these phases available soon.)

2—Encourage the ownership of books in the home and supervision of children's reading. (See American Home Series.)

3—Give full publicity and support to the contests of this Division. These contests are designed to get club women thinking in terms of better books and their relation to better homes and a large response is most desirable. (See separate bulletin for details.)

4—Cooperate with the publishers in their effort to meet the needs of clubs by supporting worthwhile publications and by persistently bulletining good books. (Ask Headquarters for Book List, 1924.)

5—Cooperate with teachers and librarians in the observance of Children's Book Week, November 9-15. (See special bulletin for details.) Put on "Earn a Book" campaign if possible.

6—Observe National Drama Week and encourage play production and community pageantry. (See Bulletin on Community Drama.)

7—Continue to feature state and local writers on club programs and to work for the recognition and preservation of literary shrines.

The Executive Board recommends that Division Chairmen work directly with state chairmen and they, in turn, transmit projects to individual clubs. Will you help us to strengthen the machinery by prompt action? Will you report frequently? Your suggestion is earnestly desired at all times in the work. To those who are new in the Literature Family we extend cordial greetings, to those who continue in service our confidence that you will carry on. Let Literature serve life, enrich life, re-create life—this must be our message to three million club women of America.

Aries Book Shop, Buffalo

THE first thing to be said about the Aries Bookshop is that it was founded and dedicated to service in a unique way. Spencer Kellogg, Jr., one of the most progressive of Buffalo's business men wanted to do something for the improvement of his native city. He had an ambition to give the city of Buffalo an activity toward higher living. Suddenly, while on his way home from Europe in 1921, he knew that the activity would be a bookshop, "the kind of bookshop you h a v e d r e a m e d about."

IN THE SUNNY WINDOW OF THE ARIES SHOP ONLY A FEW BOOKS ARE SHOWN AT A TIME BUT THE DISPLAY IS CHANGED OFTEN

Delaware Avenue, with its wide lawns and four rows of old trees in great cathedral arches, is one of the loveliest streets in America. For some years the lower end of it, near McKinley Monument has been given over to business. Within the last two or three years several blocks of the street have seen an amazing change and activity. The new Statler and the new Ford Hotels have been built. A huge Athletic Club has been built across the circle. A row of new office buildings and shops have gone up, the shops all specialty shops of the kind commonly dubbed exclusive.

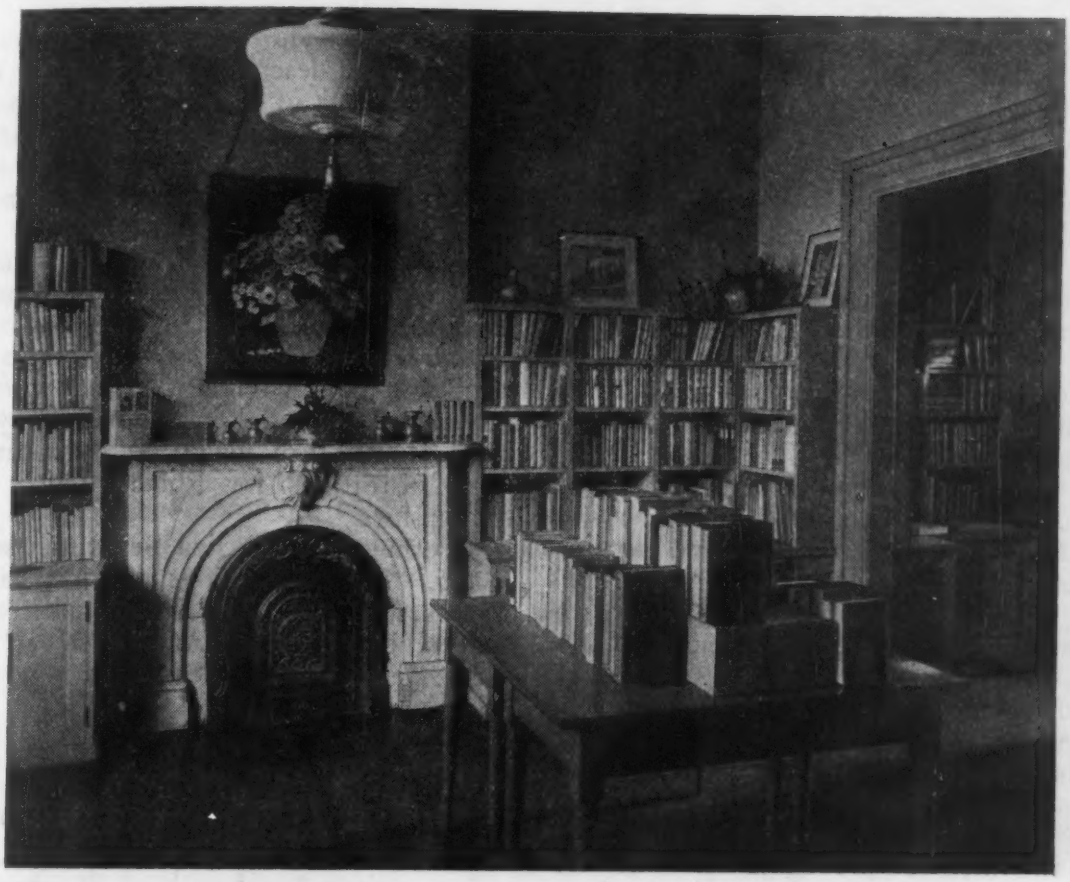

The Bookshop was a pioneer in this new business neighborhood. The Statler Hotel with all its little shops and its hosts of travelers is now immediately over the way. The shop itself is a nice old house which gives it an atmosphere of homelike and cozy leisure.

It was named the Aries Book Shop "because," as explained in the first number of Aries enprinted by Spencer Kellogg at Ye Sign of Ye Aries Booke Shope on Delaware Street number 116 yn the month of May, MCMXXIII, "by the signing of the lease for our present building in the month of April (1921) the first definite step was taken toward the establishment of the shop and because from that time we considered ourselves 'born' under Aries. Because, altho many another good name was suggested, our birthday sign was so strangely appropriate and boded such good fortune that we adopted it at once.

"In fact Aries being the head sign of the Grand Man and having the higher attributes of intuition and reason quite logically lends itself to this particular usage. Furthermore those born under it are leaders; they direct thought and are progressive; they possess great regenerative powers and consequently can exert tremendous influence for good (or evil). They love beauty, order and harmony; they are good scholars, bright, genial and witty; and are never at a loss how to provide stimulating or intellectual entertainment. And, what is very important, their sympathies are instant and kindly, enabling them to understand and minister to the needs of others." Certainly that is an excellent text for a bookman, and it is no wonder that Aries was chosen as an ideal name for a place where people love the best books.

The zodiac sign is adapted as the trademark of the shop, and it is used conspicuously on the window.

A short flight of steps leads up to the front door. Within the predominating color is a soft light green, with gray woodwork and shelves. There are two main rooms and a work room down stairs and two more above. The front room is remarkably light and cheerful. Over the marble mantlepiece is a large and beautiful woodcut by Thorpe.

THE FRONT ROOM IS VERY SUNNY AND CHEERFUL WITH LIGHT GREEN WALLS AND GRAY SHELVES

THE CRONIES' ROOM IS THE COOLEST PLACE IN SUMMER AND WARMEST, IN FRONT OF AN OPEN FIRE, IN WINTER. HERE ARE THE RARE BOOKS AND FINE BINDINGS

hand colored, a bouquet of garden flowers, blue, yellow and orange in a blue bowl. This catches your eye as you enter the shop and lends distinction to the whole room. In this room are poetry in a case in the window corner, novels, essays, biography, history, etc. Thru a wide doorway one goes from this room into what is known as the Cronies' Room. This is the coolest spot in summer and the warmest, in front of the open fire, in winter, so that is is always a comfortable place to read. The walls are panelled in green stained boards. Here are the rare books and choice bindings. The old prints, silver and pewter about the room are decorative and interesting. The shop Guest Book is in this room; and here are staged infrequent teas for visiting lions. The Guest Book holds among others the names of Hugh Walpole, Cosmo Hamilton, Jane Abbott, Claude Bragdon, Grace Richmond, Louis Untermeyer, Montrose J. Moses, Hendrik Van Loon, Elizabeth Coatsworth, and Sigmond Spaeth.

Upstairs the children's room is furnished with reed furniture, and has cretonne hangings in which red predominates. The stock is chosen by a children's librarian and specialist in children's reading.

The shop doesn't plan to stock trashy novels at all, but in the tradition of its founding offers its patrons fiction which it can cordially endorse. It specializes in French books, poetry, illustrated children's books and new thought.

The zodiac sign of Aries is used as the trade-mark on the shop's letter-head, as a little paster in the back of the books which serves the double purpose of a reminder of where the book was purchased, and, by removing the priced part of the slip when the book is sold, of an aid to stocks records.

Frequenters of the Cronies' Room have formed the Cronies' Club whose ambition it is to gather a group of "great readers" whose enjoyment of the opportunities of the Aries Shop will be so keen that its influence will be felt thruout the city and beyond. Under the auspices of this club Thomas Wilfred brought his Color Organ to Buffalo.

The shop uses an original and amusing letter for collections. It is adorned with reproductions of pen and ink sketches and the text, reproducing handwriting, reads:

Dear Bookworm:—

Why not send a check and be done with it? Sending statements is an awful nuisance to us and they must be a bore to you.

It's a lot of fun selling books but really we can't afford to give 'em away, can we?

Yours in hopes,

SPENCER KELLOGG, JR.

The Bookshop publication Aries has classified and descriptive lists of new books, announcements of bookshop events, original essays, reprints of poems, reviews and chat. It is illustrated with reproductions of old prints and each issue bears William Caxton's mark.

The cover of the first, a jazz issue, was drawn by Elizabeth MacKinstry formerly of Buffalo. The second cover was reproduced from a pen and ink drawing by J. J. Lankes of Gardenville, a former student of the Buffalo Art School, known everywhere to bookmen thru magazine pages and for the illustrations for Robert Frost's "New Hampshire."

"Perhaps," says Eliza Sears of the Aries Shop, "these suggestions of what makes up the personality of the Aries Book Shop are trifles, but Michael Angelo said, "Trifles make perfection but perfection is no trifle."

Anglo-American Friendship

THE great importance of books in more firmly cementing the relationship between this country and Great Britain is practically illustrated by an incident described in the August issue of the Anglo-American Trade, a paper published by the American Chamber of Commerce in London. Mr. L. G. Sloan a member of that body conceived the excellent plan of presenting each member of the International Advertising Convention with a two volume set of J. R. Green's "Short History of the English People" neatly bound in red cloth with a case to match, inscribed in gold "International Advertising Convention British Empire Exhibition." Within is a quotation from Mr. Sloan's friend and associate Frank D. Waterman: "If Americans would read an authentic English History, a new view of the British people would be discovered, which would greatly tend to closer friendship between our two great countries."

DISPLAY FOR THE REPRINT EDITION OF "BLACK OXEN" ARRANGED BY W. H. SMITH AND SON, ENGLAND

A Booklover in London

A. EDWARD NEWTON, who has done so much to increase the interest in book buying and book collecting, has included in his essay on "London—Forty Years Later," published in the Atlantic Monthly of August and presumably to be in book form later, a chapter on the London dealers in old books. He takes the reader by the hand and leads him to Quaritch's and Sawyer's on Grafton Street, to the beautiful Maggs bookshop on Conduit Street and Dobell's and Sabin's and Ellis's, the latter having a record of nearly two hundred years in the same spot.

He has praise for the shop of Francis Edwards and for that of Bumpus on Oxford Street, of whom he says: "they have recently opened an excellent rare book department in charge of a very competent man whose name I have forgotten—but my check book shows the scars of several encounters with him." He takes the pilgrim from thence to the shop of James Tregaskis, opposite the Museum, of whom he says: "He is still going strong and will some day hand over a well-established business to his son Hugh, the most popular boy selling books in England, and justly so."

Systematized Display

WITH the great number of bookshops and book-stalls controlled by W. H. Smith & Son, it is possible for them to conduct at their head office in London a carefully systematized promotion bureau, and, on selected books, display plans are developed with the cooperation of the publishers that are carried in the windows of their best situated stores.

Mr. Chappell, in charge of this work at the London headquarters, has developed many ingenious displays, very often with action features to attract the passer-by. The signs which go with the displays and their lettering are in a uniform style which has been adopted by the W. H. Smith chain. An interesting example of this method is shown in the big window-sized framework bearing the legend, "The Book of the Hour." The photograph that Mr. Chappell has sent shows this display fixture in use at the time when the reprint edition of "Black Oxen" was promoted thruout England.

W. H. Smith has now 260 bookshops and over 1,000 book-stalls, and they are constantly readjusting their system to get better locations for their business.

Club Women and Their Book Program

WE print on the first page of this number an account of the comprehensive book program just adopted by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, one of the most welcome aids to a general increase in the interest in books and the building of home libraries that could possibly be recorded. No one who has the interest of books at heart can read this finely conceived plan without feeling that the General Federation, thru its countrywide membership, is undertaking something that will register its effect in the home libraries and reading interests of the forty-eight states.

When the Children's Book Week plan was first conceived, its sponsors naturally felt that the Women's Clubs should be one of the important sources of aid in the program, and in this they were not mistaken. The chairman of the Division of Literature was at that time Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, subsequently president of the Federation, and her interest was readily aroused. Thru one of her committee, Mary L. Titcomb, librarian at Hagerstown, Md., suggestions for Club programs suitable for the Book Week were prepared and widely circulated.

As the Children's Book Week program broadened into a Year Round Book Program and assumed broader proportions under the sponsorship of the National Association of Book Publishers, the General Federation gave increasing evidence of its interest in this movement, and last fall prizes were offered by them to their numbers for the best reply to the question, "What do two million women want from the book publishers?" This was done under the new chairman, Mrs. L. A. Miller of Colorado Springs, who so ably succeeded Mrs. Winter in developing this Division of Literature. Encouraged by the general interest shown in these discussions, Mrs. Miller's Division has now drafted this broad program covering all departments of book interest, and this program given at the recent convention, was the backing of a whole Federation.

No organization in the country can do as much to give books their fullest place in American communities as the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and everyone in these communities—teachers, librarians, preachers and booksellers—will be interested to give the Club committees their fullest cooperation. The National Association of Book Publishers looks upon this cooperative help as one of the finest fruits of its efforts toward the broader use of books, and the fact that the Federation committees have been ready to throw the great weight of their influence into such cooperative work shows that they are appreciative of the broad purposes which have characterized this movement.

We Have With Us Again

OVER 3000 book titles are indexed in this number of the Publishers' Weekly, the entries being both by author and title, also by series and by leading word of the title when the title alone is not sufficient entry. Such an index takes several weeks of preparation and a vast amount of writing and checking in order to insure the greatest possible completeness and accuracy as to prices. Publishing plans are usually fully developed by September, but many items are still in a preparatory state and publishers assist up to the last moment of our printing in making the list complete.

No other line of business requires such accurate and involved indexing as does the book trade. No bookstore can think of carrying all of the books published, but no bookseller who is a bookseller, fails to try to take orders for every volume inquired for. To do this, a good working tool is necessary, and by its use thousands of orders are handled, to the benefit of the public, the author and all concerned in the making and handling of books.

In spite of the tendency on all sides to spread publishing around the year, the fall will always be the heaviest season because of the slackening in summer, the special pressure of December, and because of the heavier reading demands during the winter months. Thus an index which covers the four months before December is a most indispensable tool for those who give complete service during these all-important weeks.

Trade Ethics Again

THERE is something decidedly interesting to all business men in the progress made by the Federal Trade Commission in bringing together different groups of manufacturers to find common basis for eliminating unfortunate trade practices. During the past month manufacturers of musical instruments have met with the Trade Commission, and twenty-three firms have signed an agreement that they would not give or lend instruments to prominent musicians for advertising purposes and that no salaries or fees would be paid to performers for like purpose.

Such a program will give the public a great deal more confidence in the advertising of musical instruments and will prevent the kind of competition which must greatly increase the cost of doing business in that field. The government aid in improving trade standards has been one of the noteworthy developments of the governments' aid to business.

Stealing Rare Books

THE increasing attention that sales of rare books get in the public press, may mean that there should be greater watchfulness lest there be an increase of thieving by those who may see in the high prices of books an opportunity to get valuable merchandise by the short route. Perhaps few thieves would be so bold as that one who stole a whole library from General G. L. Brainerd in Washington, whose trail was picked up thru the alertness of Dr. Campbell, the Philadelphia bookseller, but the loss of any book of real value is a serious matter to a dealer, and everyone should be in the mood to cooperate quickly and heartily in all efforts to stop pilfering.

The history of some books is so well known that copies of them cannot be offered without suspicion being aroused, but there is a wide field of books whose tracks in the wrong hands can only be followed by continuous and cooperative watchfulness. The Publishers' Weekly is interested in printing stories of theft promptly, in order that losses of this kind may be followed as quickly as possible.

The Clocks of Rondaine

SOME forty years ago one of America's best story-tellers, Frank R. Stockton, wrote a very moral but very delightful story about the town of Rondaine that had numerous clocks, which, to the worriment of a little girl named Arla, never seemed to strike together. It became Arla's mission to go forth into her town and see if she could not induce the owners or caretakers of these clocks to make them strike at the correct time, and she offered her own little clock as the standard by which to go.

One caretaker at a big church could not attend to the matter because he was busy dusting the books in the church library. Another could not think of it because the clock was striking in the same way that it had always struck for a century and a half. Another could not think of a change, because the machinery of striking was so very complicated that it would be almost impossible to tell where to begin, and so, for various reasons the clocks were left to strike in their old, haphazard way, and Arla was left to wonder how the town would really know when Christmas came unless the clocks could agree together at the stroke of midnight.

The editors of the Publishers' Weekly sometimes feel that their situation is something like that of little Arla. Christmas is in the offing, but how is the book-trade going to be ready for it unless they get their clocks striking together and thus increase the feeling of common interest and common purpose? If the fall season is to be what it should be, must not there be a readjustment of machinery? Are there not booksellers like the clock owners in Rondaine who do not care to move with modern efficiency because of their ancient inheritance of habit and method? Are there not those who will not energetically attack the fall business because, as was the care taker in the old church, they are engaged in dusting books? Are there not some who cannot see big fall plans on account of the infinite number of small details, like the caretaker of the Donkey Clock, whose machinery was so complicated that he knew not where to make readjustments.

It may be that our paper, like Arla's timepiece, may itself be lacking in authority, but at least we shall try to print advice from as many sources as possible, so that with some reasonable degree of correctness, the proper progress of a fall business will be shown, and that all the book-trade may be chiming together in a prosperous December with a feeling of common cause.

The Decoration of Houses

A Book-List Prepared by Helen E. Hempstead

As a 1924 thesis at the Library School of the University of Wisconsin

These lists on "Decoration" and on "Furniture" are part of a more complete bibliography on the building and furnishing of homes, which were edited with the interests of people of moderate incomes in mind.

Eberlein, H. D., and McClure, Abbot. "Practical Book of Period Furniture." 1914. Lippincott, $8.50.
Covers a broad field. Chapters on English, French, and American furniture styles.

Holloway, E. S. "Practical Book of Furnishing the Small House and Apartment." 1922. Lippincott, $6.50.
Choice, arrangement, and styles of furniture discussed all thru this excellent book. Illustrated with plates, many in color, showing actual furniture which may be purchased in the market today.

Kimerly, W. L. "How to Know Period Styles in Furniture." 1913. Grand Rapids, Mich., Grand Rapids Furniture Record Co., $1.50.
Inexpensive, and well illustrated. Shows typical examples of period styles.

Northend, M. H. "Colonial Homes and Their Interiors." 1917. Little, $4.
See entry under the sub-head for Decoration, p. 15.

——— "Painted Furniture" (in her "Art of Home Decoration.") 1921. (p. 205-222.)
Many ideas for color schemes adapted to painted furniture. While chiefly on the decorative value of such furniture, one person's method of painting some inexpensive pieces is given.

Quinn, M. J. "Furniture" (in her "Planning and Furnishing the Home.") 1914. (p. 68-126.)
Chapters on Chairs and tables of the past—Old English furniture—Old French furniture—American colonial furniture—Furniture of today. Last chapter is very practical and should be helpful.

Rolfe, A. L. "Furniture" (in her "Interior Decoration for the Small Home.") 1921. (p. 61-107.)
Chapters on A brief history of furniture—Modern period furniture and its use—Furniture of modern design—Furniture woods. All are interesting. The last contains knowledge the purchaser should have.

Seal, E. D. "Furniture" (in her "Furnishing the Little House.") 1924. (p. 16-105.)
Two chapters. One tells something of furniture history in a brief space. The other is concerned with the choice of modern furniture, with excellent criticisms and suggestions. The early part of the book in the discussions and illustrations of the rooms of the house also gives good furniture ideas.

Sell, M. A., and Sell, H. B. "Good Taste in Home Furnishing." 1915. Dodd, $1.50.
Excellent advice as to selection and arrangement of furniture with a discussion of upholstery, wood, and styles.

White, C. E., Jr. "Furniture for the Bungalow" (in his "Bungalow Book." 1923. p. 185-198).

Good furniture for the bungalow, suitable in size and design. Rooms of the house discussed separately. No illustrations.

Wright, R. L., ed. "House and Garden's Book of Interiors." 1920.

The illustrations of interiors in this book show excellent furniture of good design. This is also true of the other books edited by Wright and listed on p. 18. See also chapters on furniture in these books listed above under home decoration.

Hunter. "Home Furnishing."

Kellogg. "Home Furnishing."

Stealing a Whole Library

THE history of bibliophilism is not altogether devoid of its chapters of crime, writes The Bibliographer in the Boston Transcript. That murder has actually been committed to obtain possession of a rare book or manuscript is not authenticated, but the earnest records of book collecting are not devoid of accounts of book-stealing. Emilius Paullus took the royal library as the general's share of the plunder when Perseus was deprived of the kingdom of Macedonia. Libraries have been among the spoils of war from time immemorial, altho barbarians, from the time of the Alexandrine library to that of Louvain, have destroyed, instead of "converted" libraries. There have been magnificent book-thieves, like the notorious Libri, and pilferers from libraries from the dim and distant pass to the present day.

But the spread of knowledge concerning rare books makes this an increasingly difficult field in which the thief can operate. If one were to go into the Morgan Library and steal the Ashburnham Gospels, it would not be possible for one to dispose of it. There are "censuses" of famous books like the Gutenberg Bible, the First Folio of Shakespeare, and the books which were printed by Caxton. Every known copy has been located and described. Dealers in rare books know these volumes, and if a copy is offered to them they must know all about it before purchasing. It probably was ignorance of this fact that brought disaster to one Joseph Francis de Vallieres d'Or, M.D., who is now languishing in jail awaiting trial on the charge of looting the library of General D. L. Brainerd of Washington, D. C. The knowledge and alertness of William J. Campbell, a Philadelphia dealer in rare books, brought about this result. DeValliere, who claims to be the heir to three unsettled English estates, went to Washington in 1922 and leased the furnished residence of General David L. Brainerd at 1825 Q Street, northwest. The general was in New York at the time, but Mrs. Brainerd, thru her real estate agent, made the lease for a long time, the rent being paid in advance. The general possessed a fine private library of rare books and manuscripts, and the lessee, who appeared to be a man of means, intelligence and breeding, was delighted. On January 2 "Dr." de Valliere and his family departed silently by night from the Brainerd mansion. So did some five hundred rare and costly volumes. Others had been despoiled of their plates, and valuable autographs had been removed. Some paintings had been cut from their frames. One was "The Crystal Palace Glacier, Greenland," by F. W. Stokes; another a forest scene in water colors.

In July, 1921 Dr. DeValliere had sent to William J. Campbell a small water color sketch of Washington, signed in ink with the name of Charles Wilson Peale. As it was a palpable forgery it was returned. After the disappearance of DeValliere from Washington General Brainerd made known, thru the Publishers' Weekly, the loss of his books. In the early part of last June a respectable young woman appeared at Dr. Campbell's place in Philadelphia and wished to sell a number of books containing the autographs of Washington, Franklin, Robert Burns and other celebrities. With them she had several little water color sketches, signed (in ink) by John Trumbull. Dr. Campbell's son, John J. Campbell, who was in the store with him, at once recognized the character of the drawings and the writing of the forgeries. The young lady stated that she had answered an advertisement for a position as bookkeeper for the summer. The advertisement was answered by a Dr. D'Or, of Ventnor, a suburb of Atlantic City, who informed her that he had inherited a very valuable library which he wished to sell. As his professional duties did not allow him time to do this himself, he offered a liberal commission to her for selling them, and work enough to last all summer. However, he warned her not to offer the books to booksellers, as they would try to buy them at too low prices, in order to make a profit, leave nothing for her. Her suspicions were not aroused, and she undertook the work. Evidently two of the first collectors upon whom she called had doubts as to the authenticity of the signatures, and referred her to Dr. Campbell. A letter to the young lady from Dr. D'Or was recognized as being in the same hand-writing as one the firm had received previously from Dr. De Valliere. General Brainerd was at once notified and the arrest followed. It is not likely that any collector who is in a position to buy books bearing the autographs of George Washington or Benjamin Franklin will be taken in by a forgery, as expert opinion is likely to be asked when dealing with strangers, but this should prove warning enough to prevent anyone from buying any of General Brainerd's stolen books. Naturally any assistance that he may receive in recovering the missing volumes will be appreciated by the General, whose address is the Army and Navy Club, Washington.

The Prince at Garden City

THE Prince of Wales visited the Garden City plant of the Doubleday, Page Co. on Monday the 15th. The visit was in the nature of a tribute to the late Ambassador to Great Britain, Walter Hines Page. In Garden City the Prince and his party were met by Arthur Page, Mr. Page's son, and a thousand employees left their work as the Prince walked across quadrangle. The party first visited the office of Arthur Page where everything remains as it was when his distinguished father occupied it. For a short period the Prince sat in the editorial chair recounting anecdotes of Walter Hines Page to his son. A tour of inspection was made thru the plant and the different processes in book manufacture were explained to the Prince by members of the various departments.

Entertaining the Public

THE Motion Picture Theater Owners, in conference at Atlantic City, expressed the opinion that admission prices may have to be raised this year. If this should be the case, it seems likely that many people may be driven to books as an inexpensive form of amusement. The conference attacked the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, which organization collects royalties for the composers of music from the theater owners. The Motion Picture Theater Owners are planning to bring bills into Congress to relieve them from this responsibility. As outlined in their statements before Congress last April, they believe that, after they have bought sheets of music for their orchestras, they should be able to play them all winter long without further royalty payment to the composers. The composers point out that this is starvation wages for the composers, and, inasmuch as their music is being marketed for profit, some basis of payment must be arranged.

The Association of Broadcasters joined with the theater owners in attacking the rights of the composers to be paid for their work, and the broadcasters' argument before the Congressional Committee last year was that they were giving free service to the general public and therefore should not be called upon to pay royalties. They now announce that they wish to collect a fund of $1,500,000 to help pay for the cost of broadcasting. This payment, it is presumed from their former stand, is to be made to the artists who sing the songs or read from the plays or books but not to be given in any part to the composers of the music or the writers of the plays or books. They point out at present that no one will do broadcasting unless he does it for advertising purposes and has his time paid for by the advertisers. This is admitting the contention of the music composers and authors, who pointed out at the hearings in Washington that broadcasting has not been done by public benefactors but by those who had a commercial interest in the business and that, if music and literature were what the broadcasters needed for publicity and advertising, those who produced the material for such purposes must be paid.

This whole question will come up again before Congress in an even more emphatic way than last year.

The Livy Manuscripts

NOTHING authentic had been announced relative to the report from Italy that the lost books of Livy were discovered by Dr. Fusco De Martino until the 17th. He and the manuscripts had both disappeared, but enough credence had been given to the story by the British Museum so that they offered him £1,000,000 for the original manuscripts. Curtis Brown, the Anglo-American literary agent was reported to have offered $1,000,000 for the English Translation rights. Since the alleged discovery and the subsequent disappearance of the books and De Martino the Italian Government took steps to prevent the books from remaining in the discoverer's possession by evoking an old law which provides that all treasure troves belong to the crown. The government scoured Italy for the professor and his books and now he has been located. He tells a very prosaic tale: "I merely discovered a document that has never been published. It says that a certain scribe had been charged with copying all of Livy's books. Basing further researches on certain indications given by the scribe, I was on the point of discovering where his copy of Livy's books were hidden when the publication of false notices of my work, both here and abroad, with discussions for and against my having spoken the truth, made it impossible to continue my laborious task." The learned doctor has been guaranteed his peace and quietness to pursue his quarry.

Letter of Keats Sold

THE MacGeorge sale at Sotheby's in London contained a letter written by the poet Keats to Fanny Brawne. It is undated but apparently was written soon after the death of his brother and when he was overwhelmed with his passion for the one to whom the letter was addressed. "Every hour," he writes, "I am more & more concentrated in you; everything else tastes like chaff in my mouth. I feel it almost impossible to go to Italy—the fact is I cannot leave you, & shall never taste one minute's content until it pleases chance to let me live with you for good. . . Indeed, I should like to give up the matter at once—I should like to die. I am sickened at the brute world which you are smiling with. I hate men and women more. . . I wish I was either in your arms or that a thunderbolt would strike me. God keep you." This despairing missive was signed "J. K." and brought £430.

Courses in Directed Reading at Smith College

SMITH COLLEGE has this fall outlined a program by which the faculty will extend to the alumnae assistance in planning reading courses. Such a program has been under discussion some time and is similar to a plan developed a year ago at Amherst College. The Alumnae Association took the matter up with the president and faculty, pointing out that there were many former students who would like to keep in touch with the vital life of the college. Individual graduates have often taken advantage of the relationships of student days to write back for suggestions for current reading to those departments in which they have found the most interest, and the faculty have been very happy to give advice.

It is now proposed to work out a plan to make such help available to all graduates who may desire it and to make such help continuous. President Nielson took up this matter and appointed a committee of three from the faculty, who reported with approval, and the Alumnae Council have now put the program into action. There has gone out to every alumna a letter describing the plan and listing twelve different subjects on which the reading lists are offered. Each alumna is allowed to register for one of the subjects. The books and references on each list will be so selected and arranged as to afford ordered and systematic progress in the subjects. The list is as follows:

1. Eugenics and Population Problems.
2. Problems of Immigration.
3. Social Maladjustment.
4. Historical and English Novels.
5. The Ideas of Galsworthy, Chesterton, Shaw and Wells.
6. The Study of Biography.
7. Political Parties and Current Policies.
8. International Relations.
9. Topics in Municipal Administration.
10. The History of Russia.
11. The History of Spain and Spanish America.
12. Recent History of the United States.

Boston Booksellers Entertained

EMILIE LORING, the author of "Trail of Conflict" and "Here Comes the Sun," is to be hostess at her home in Wellesley Hills both to the Boston Authors' Club and the Booksellers' Association. Mrs. Loring's Orchard is a beauty spot in the Boston suburbs, and joint hospitality to both authors and booksellers is a new and interesting idea.

A Week's Gleaning of Book-Trade News

PUTNAM'S have followed their success with Beebe's "Galápagos" with a beautiful travel book on New Guinea by Captain Frank Hurley called "Pearls and Savages." The photographs that Captain Hurley brought back from that country have attracted wide attention in magazine publications.

¶¶The Francis Arthur Jones book on Thomas Edison, which has been a standard volume for several years, is now ready in revised and greatly enlarged form thru Crowell.

¶¶Walter Prichard Eaton's "The Actor's Heritage," (Atlantic Monthly Press), has been made in similar form to the books of A. Edward Newton for which the book-trade found a ready market. It is a book of gossip on the early English and American stage.

¶¶The sale of "The Cross Word Puzzle Books" has mounted to 100,000 in the first four months of selling. Simon & Schuster plan to have a third volume on the market by November, as the demand seems to grow with each passing week.

¶¶Stokes have found immediate response in the sales for Louise Miln's "In a Shantung Garden." The interest in it is still further stimulated by the current political events in China. Romance and fact from China seem to be equally thrilling in these days.

¶¶In connection with the publishing of the new "Spoon River," we are reminded that the sale of the first volume has reached 80,000 copies, a record figure for a first book of poetry.

¶¶Harold B. Hunting, formerly manager of the Religious Bookshoop on Madison Avenue, and now connected with the Pilgrim Press, has written a life of Christ for Minton, Balch & Company. The same firm is issuing an elaborate new edition of Cooper's "The Spy" with illustrations by Leroy Baldridge.

¶¶William Bolitho, the entertaining London correspondent of the New York World, is to have a volume of his essays published by Harper & Bros. in September entitled "Leviathan."

¶¶A new and cheaper edition of the "diary" of Jonathan Parsons recounting a visit to Indiana in 1840 and describing the life of the times has just been issued by McBride.

¶¶Some of Theodore Roosevelt's most interesting and revealing correspondence, comprising letters written to his older sister, will be published by Charles Scribner's Sons this fall under the title: "Letters from Theodore Roosevelt to Anna Roosevelt Cowles, 1870-1918." They begin in his boyhood and end with a short note written only a few days before his death. They have never before been published.

¶¶The volumes from the Encyclopedia Britannica Company entitled "These Eventful Years" contain chapters on "Twentieth Century Literature" by Henry Seidel Canby, on "New Poetry," by John Gould Fletcher and on "The Decay of the Drama," by St. John Ervine, all of which provide suggestive and informing reading for the dealers in books.

¶¶Three old favorites have come to welcome reprinting by the children's department of the Macmillan Company, "Goody Two Shoes," by Oliver Goldsmith, "Feats on the Fiord," by Harriet Martineau and "At the Back of the North Wind," by George MacDonald, the latter being especially appropriate in view of the hundredth anniversary of MacDonald's birth.

¶¶Greenberg, Inc., will bring out on September 30th, in an edition limited to 1,500 copies, a volume of "Critical Studies of the Works of Charles Dickens," by the late George Gissing. These studies were written as introductions to the Rochester Edition of Dickens, but only six were published, and these were never before collected in book form. The other studies appear for the first time in the forthcoming volume. Additional interesting features of the book are a bibliography of Gissing, and a paper entitled "Dickens In Memory," by Gissing, which appeared in the Critic, in 1902.

Communications

RUSSIANS INTERESTED IN AMERICAN PERIODICALS

Moscow, July, 1924.

To the Editor of Publishers' Weekly,

As the leading book concern in Russia specializing particularly in foreign importations we have been always pursuing an active policy in spreading foreign publication in Russia, not stopping at cost or novelty of method.

In order to meet the tremendously grown interest in Russia toward American and English current literature we are planning to arrange in Moscow, an exhibition of American and English periodicals.

We are regularly receiving at present many copies of nearly a thousand different titles of foreign periodicals a great part of which are in the English language.

We hope that you will cooperate with us in our effort to popularize your magazine in Russia by sending us a sample copy at your earliest convenience so as to enable us to have it represented at the proposed exhibition.

Kindly address to Mezhdunarodnaya Kniga, Kuznetski Most 12, Moscow, Russia.

Thanking you in advance for your kindness we remain,

MEZHDUNARODNAYA KNIGA.

The Weekly Record of New Publications

THIS list aims to be a complete and accurate record of American book publications. Pamphlets will be included only if of special value. Publishers should send copies of all books promptly for annotation and entry, and the receipt of advance copies insures record simultaneous with publication. The annotations are descriptive, not critical; intended to place not to judge the books. Pamphlet material and books of lesser trade interest are listed in smaller type.

The entry is transcribed from title page when the book is sent for record. Prices are added except when not supplied by publisher or obtainable only on specific request. When not specified the binding is cloth.

Imprint date is stated [or best available date, preferably copyright date, in bracket] only when it differs from year of entry. Copyright date is stated only when it differs from imprint date: otherwise simply "c." No ascertainable date is designated thus: [n. d.]

Sizes are indicated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q (4to: under 30 cm.); O (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo; 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow.

Old and Rare Books

Edited by Frederick M. Hopkins

A NEW magazine, The Contemporary, has made its appearance in Russia. The first issue contained unpublished letters by Dostoevsky.

THE first book sale of the season of 1924-25 will be held September 30 by Charles F. Heartman at Metuchen, N. J. It comprises Americana, including books, pamphlets and broadsides, many items of which are rare. A second alphabet contains an unusual collection of American newspapers.

AMONG the items of a Burns collector of this city is a copy of the London Morning Post of December 20, 1776, the first London paper to recognize the genius of Robert Burns. This issue contains a collection of quotations, among them "The Vision" and "The Mountain Daisy."

THE sixth volume of "A Summary Catalogue of Western Manuscripts in the Bodleian Library at Oxford," by Falconer Madan, formerly Bodleian librarian, and Dr. H. H. E. Craster, sub-librarian, will soon be published by Oxford University Press. It describes the manuscripts acquired by the library between July, 1890, and December, 1915, the accession of each year being taken in turn.

A RECENT article in the Literary Supplement of the London Times records the great interest in novels dealing with gypsy life. As cornerstones for a collection, Borrow's "Lavengro" and "Romany Rye" are suggested. Attention is called to the fact that ten years ago the Gypsy Lore Society published Dr. G. F. Black's "Gypsy Bibliography," which recorded 4577 books, pamphlets and articles on the subject.

WHEN one of our large department stores, Macy's of New York, places on exhibition such items as the manuscripts of Conrad's "Freya," Lamb's "The Twenty-ninth of February," and Swinburne's "Elegy," and says in its advertisements to the public, "You are cordially invited to come in and see them, regardless of whether you intend to buy or not," there can be no doubt of the general interest in literary treasures of this kind.

SOLDIERS' diaries and letters written at the front during the war are to be compiled by the German government as a part of the history of the world conflict. A bureau for this purpose has been established and notices have been sent thruout the country, urging people to contribute material for the collection. No such records were kept or collected after the war of 1870-71, says the appeal, and consequently much valuable information was lost which should have been preserved for future reference and as a part of the history of that conflict.

THE will of John Quinn, lawyer, book collector and art connoisseur, filed in the Surrogate's Court last week, provides that ten or twenty years after his death any letters of a literary or historical character left by him will become the property of the New York Public Library, for the use of students of literature, who may be interested in Irish history or letters. In the meantime, these papers will be placed in the hands of experts who will arrange, mount and bind them and then they will be packed away to await the stipulated time for delivery.

COLLECTORS of modern first editions are paying more and more attention to magazines containing the first publication of notable essays, tales and novels of favorite authors. Not long ago the twelve issues of Scribner's Magazine containing the series of essays written by Robert Louis Stevenson, used as end papers, written while he was sick at Saranac Lake, brought $10.50. Surely this should make a desirable item for the Stevenson collector. The New York Evening Post calls attention to the fact that the issues of the Windsor Magazine containing Kipling's "Stalky & Co.," sold for $30, and that the single issue of Harper's Week- ly of May 13, 1905, containing Conrad's "The Art of Fiction" has brought $6.00.

EDOUARD HERRIOT, who is a learned historian, collector and bookworm, despite his heavy official duties, still finds time to devote to the subjects on which he is an authority. Even when negotiating the London agreement, the French Premier managed to find some time which he used to discover and buy a document possessing great historical interest. It was while turning over old letters and documents at a London dealer's that he was attracted by an old yellow paper bearing the inscription: "Commune of Paris Department of Police," dated July 13, 1793. Reading further Herriot was amazed to find that the document was the official minutes of the arrest of Charlotte Corday for the murder of Marat. Having acquired the paper, M. Herriot carried it back to Paris and presented it to the National Archives.

HENRY B. TEDDER, who recently died in London, had been identified with books and libraries thruout his life, says a writer in John o'London's Weekly. He was a born librarian with a gift for research and investigation. He started as an assistant to Bernard Quaritch, and while still a young man he became librarian to the very learned Lord Acton and assisted him to form his immense working historical library, which was a great collection made to be read and not merely looked at. About 1876 he became the librarian of the Athanaeum library and held the post until he retired in 1922. The Athenaeum library is the finest club library in London, and this is largely owing to Tedder's wide knowledge of books in all European languages. A work upon which he had been engaged during recent years was a history of the Athenaeum, and this will probably appear soon and contain many racy and interesting stories of the great.

ONE of the most remarkable books in the world, called "The Devil's Bible" and also the "giant of books" has been brought out of its hiding place in the Royal Library of Stockholm, following a request for a photostat copy from the city of Prague, where it was captured in the Swedish conquest of 1648. It was written 800 years ago, and legend says that it was completed in a single night by a monk who was doomed to die. To accomplish this superhuman task, he had the assistance of the devil, and in gratitude he painted a full page portrait of him, horns, cloven feet, and all, which has since remained in the Bible. The book is one of the largest in the world, the pages being a yard high by two feet wide. It is written on 309 parchment sheets, for which, according to tradition, 100 donkey hides were required. The initials are beautifully illuminated in gold and bright colors.

IN the collection of books and manuscripts which the University of Texas purchased three years ago from the estate of Genaro Garcia, a distinguished scholar of the City of Mexico, there was recently discovered a dingy, scarred booklet, the written pages of which are made of the fibre of the maguey plant. This ancient manuscript gives an account of the Cortez expedition to Mexico and was written by a member of the invading forces more than 400 years ago. The Garcia collection of books and manuscripts is said to be one of the most remarkable of its kind in existence. Garcia spent most of his life gathering every bit of printed and documentary material to be found in America and Europe which had any bearing on the history of Mexico. This great mass of literature was left practically uncataloged in the hands of his wife. A few months after his death a party of Texas people were attending the inauguration of Gen. Alvaro Obregon, as President of Mexico. Among the visitors were members of the faculty of the University of Texas, including Dr. C. W. Hackett, professor of American history. Dr. Hackett made a hasty survey of the contents of the library and obtained an option for its purchase on behalf of the university. Since their arrival, cataloging has been in progress but several years will be required to complete it.

New Practical Books

Henley's Workable Radio Receivers

An authoritative book on practical receiving sets of modern design with complete and explicit directions for building them. It gives in greatest detail circuit and wiring diagrams, panel and baseboard layouts and drilling templates, so that any amateur may build a successful receiver from the directions given. In order to help the Workable Radio Set builder, who may not be familiar with the conventional symbols used in hooking up a set, most of the receiving sets are illustrated by complete full page diagramatic drawings, showing just where to attach the wires, location of condensers, rheostats, transformers, vacuum tubes, plugs, jacks, etc. About 256 pages, 105 diagrams and illustrations. Specially made for this book. Price, $1.00

Henley's 222 Up-to-date Radio Designs and Circuits

Including all known practical hook-ups. An entirely new and thoroughly practical book on radio circuits and designs which will meet the needs of every radio enthusiast, whether novice or expert, amateur or professional. It is replete with correct and trustworthy radio information from which any one can successfully build and operate any of the circuits given. Contains the largest collection of radio circuits and hookups ever published, and includes all the standard types and latest developments. This new book treats the subject in an entirely different and novel way, as it is the only book that gives the complete electrical design of the circuits as well as the circuit diagrams. 271 pages. 284 diagrams and illustrations specially made for this book.

Henley's Popular Radio Patterns

For building standard radio parts in your own home. Designs, text and patterns by W. R. Clendinning, Ph.B. Henley's series of live up-to-date radio patterns are a novelty in Radio Set Construction and from them one can build with success any of the popular radio sets in use today. "The Ambassador," "The Neutrodyne," "The Super-Heterodyne," "The Superdyne," "The Reflex." Each of these five instruction books are profusely illustrated with photographs taken as each step in the building of the set progresses. Besides these there are complete working drawings giving layout of the panels and showing the exact location of the various parts, and of each individual wire. A special feature which is entirely new is our TWO COLOR WIRING DIAGRAMS which make each circuit easy to follow both in building the set and locating trouble. Price, 75c each

Automobile Starting, Lighting and Ignition Systems

By Victor W. Pagé. A practical treatise containing over 200 wiring diagrams shown in both technical and non-technical forms. Complete data is given for locating troubles in all systems, the various steps being considered in a logical way for those without expert electrical knowledge. All ignition systems receive full consideration, starting with the simplest battery and coil forms found on early cars to the modern short-contact timer and magneto methods used with the latest eight and twelve-cylinder motors. Full directions are given for making all repairs and complelte instructions for locating troubles with meters. Over 800 pages, 492 specially made engravings and wiring diagrams. New edition. Revised and enlarged. Price, $3.00

Practical Steam, Hot-Water Heating and Ventilation

By A. G. King. This book has been prepared for the use of all engaged in the business of steam, hot-water heating and ventilation. Tells how to get heating contracts, how to install heating and ventilating apparatus, the best business methods to be used, with "Tricks of the Trade" for shop use. Rules and data for estimating radiation and cost and such tables and information as make it an indispensable work for everyone interested in steam, hot-water heating and ventilation. It describes all the principal systems of steam, hot-water, vacuum vapor, and vacuum-vapor heating, together with the new accelerated system of hot-water circulation, including chapters on up-to-date methods of ventilation, and the fan or blower system of heating and ventilation. Fourth edition. Thoroughly revised and brought up to date. Price $3.50

Standard Electrical Dictionary

By Prof. T. O'Conor Sloane. Just issued an entirely new edition brought up to date and greatly enlarged—as a reference book this work is beyond comparison, as it contains over 700 pages, nearly 500 illustrations, and definitions of about 6,000 distinct words, terms and phrases. The definitions are terse and concise and include every term used in electrical science. New enlarged edition. Including a dictionary of radio terms. 767 pages. 477 illustrations.

When Your Customer Begins to Talk of the Origin of Life to his sweet boy or girl he wants to be sure to tell the story right—the way it ought to be told—free from any suggestion of impurity. So many folks mean to talk to their children cleanly, but they do not know how to go about it.

Here Are the Books That Tell the Story Right

Tell it in a manner that will win the love of the child and assure his esteem for Mother and Father as well.

Then when the children have reached the adolescent period it is just as important to let them know about the responsibilities of young womanhood and young manhood. Two of the books in this Series are for those who have reached this period of life.

And for the newly married—the young wife and the young husband—the two books in this Series give them information cleanly and will surely deepen the affection of the one for the other and prevent marital trouble that has wrecked so many homes!

Some folks think that when a man or a woman attains the period of middle life and beyond that they know it all, but they do not, and two of the books in this Series are written for the folks that have reached forty and then some!

FANCY'S GARDEN and OTHER POEMS

By

Luisa Re Mondini

"Most of them are little heart songs sweet as the note of a linnet trilled in the evening dusk of a rose garden; others are metaphors in epigram, romance stuff in miniature from the fabric of which other poets might fashion allegories and fables of epic magnitude."

Excerpt from the late Edwin Howard Clough's "On the Margin."

INDIAN PAINTING UNDER THE MUGHALS A.D. 1550 TO A.D. 1750
By Percy Brown Net $35.00

"The word 'sumptuous' is emphatic and not to be used slightly. But if a stronger adjective as descriptive were at our command we would use it in describing this engrossing study. Into all public libraries and into the home library of every lover of art this superb book should go."—Boston Transcript.

TUTENAG AND PAKTONG
By Alfred Bonnin Net $14.00

There exists to-day in England a considerable number of articles of domestic use, candlesticks, fire-grates, fenders, &c., made of metal, which are surrounded with mystery. This is the first printed account of these beautiful articles which were made in England during the latter half of the eighteenth century of an alloy imported from China.

THE CLAVERINGS
By Anthony Trollope Nett 80c.

"Nowhere in his work, 'Mr. Street thinks, are his comments sounder or shrewder than here." The Belton Estate, by Anthony Trollope has also just been added to the World's Classics Series.

THE BOOK OF FRIENDSHIP VERSE. Collected by Joseph Morris and St. Clair Adams.

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," and "Book of Mother Verse."

There are few words that kindle a more ready response than the word Friendship. As one well-known man has said, "The very page on which it is printed seems warmer and more cheerful." Such is the power of Friendship to transfer its lambent glow even to cold print.

This book aims to be a representative collection of the poems on this subject.

Along with Shakespeare and Tennyson the reader will find poems by Eugene Field, James Whitcomb Riley, and Edgar A. Guest.

Some of the best things written about Friendship is in prose. The compilers feel that the book would be incomplete without some representation from the essays of Cicero, Montaigne, Thoreau, Emerson, and a few others. Accordingly some of this material has been added in the latter part of the book. At the very back of the book will be found the best quotations and sayings on Friendship.

This book makes an ideal gift volume for all occasions. It is the compilers' hope that it puts in articulate form for many what they would say about Friendship.

WOODEN SHIPS AND IRON MEN. By Frederick William Wallace.

Author of "Blue Water", "The Viking Blood", "The Shack Locker" and "Salt Seas and Sailormen."
Illustrated with rare photographs and sketches by the author.

The story of the square-rigged marine of British North America, the ships, their builders and owners, and the men who sailed them.

"There she goes—a ramping, stamping, hard-driving Bluenose—wooden ships with iron men commanding 'em." Thus commented the seamen of olden days when the big square-riggers of British North America were flying the Red Ensign on every sea and when the ship-builders, ship-owners and ship-masters of the Eastern Canadian Provinces were building, maintaining and sailing a merchant marine which in the 'seventies ranked fourth among the world's tonnage. In this volume the great sea-writer has delved deep into the past and has succeeded in recording some rare and delightful incidents in the history of the ships, their passages, mishaps and adventures, as well as numerous accurate portrayals of the seamanship and characteristics of those unsentimental and exacting seamen—the Bluenose master and mate. A book man and boy will cherish.

BLUE WATER. By Frederick William Wallace.

"The story brims over with plot and action; moreover it is the most faithful insight into the life of the deep water fishermen that has been given in recent years."—Portland Express.

"The Blue Book of Personal Attire"

HOW TO DRESS WELL

By MARGARET STORY
(Mrs. Chester B. Story)

The Author, who is an acknowledged authority on personal attire, is the first to make the principles of artistic dress really intelligible. So clearly and interestingly does she write that any woman will not only find their successful application easy but also a delightful diversion. In "How to Dress Well," Margaret Story shows the reader that dressing in a distinctive manner is not so much a matter of money as it is of knowing the difference in fabrics, in knowing the great art of blending colors, and in knowing what materials and what lines are most suitable to one's face and figure. She begins with a really understandable chapter on the psychology of clothes, tells what men and women should wear in each of their seven ages; what colors to choose and what to avoid; the principles of design—lines, form, and movement, etc.; what to wear in laces and furs; clothing for various formal and informal occasions; and hints on how to show charm, grace, and beauty. Finesse in buying clothes, the importance of caring for them, and the art of mending and remodeling are also treated. "How to Dress Well" will prove interesting and valuable to women of unlimited wealth as well as to those of restricted incomes. It is brimful of the very information pertaining to dress and toilet accessories about which every woman hesitates to accept any but truly authoritative advice. Crown 8vo. About 500 pages. Profusely illustrated with 15 illustrations and 2 color charts. $3.50, net.

PRACTICAL RADIO

Fourth Edition—Revised and Enlarged

By HENRY SMITH WILLIAMS, M.D., LL.D.

Revised to date, and written in easily understood language, this book tells everything there is to know about building and operating a radio set. It contains page after page of interesting hook-ups, including many of the famous Armstrong circuits, radio-frequency, and audio-frequency amplifiers, and a one-tube reflex set that will operate a loud-speaker on nearby stations and bring in "DX" on the phones. This new edition includes an official list of broadcasting stations in operation on February 11, 1924, and 2 charts for recording dial settings of all stations. 12mo, cloth, 440 pages, 157 illustrations. $1.75, net.

EAT YOUR WAY TO HEALTH

A Scientific System of Weight Control

By ROBERT HUGH ROSE, A. B., M.D.
Instructor, Post-Graduate Medical School, New York

A sensible, easy-to-follow, and remarkably effective guide to weight control. Dr. Rose tells in simple, non-medical language exactly what foods people should eat, and how much, in order to gain, maintain, or lose weight. Two outstanding features found in no other popular diet books are 252 complete recipe-menus, covering 93 pages, of easy-to-prepare foods covering two weeks in summer and two weeks in winter, and a complete 4-page list of foods with exact quantities recommended, for making up your own menus. These are so tasty and the variety of foods named is so wide that they bear no resemblance whatever to the ordinary "dieting" meals. There are also two chapters devoted to the consideration and reduction of blood-pressure. 12mo, cloth, 246 pages. $2, net.

DRAMATIC STORIES OF JESUS

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS, D. D.

Twenty-one short stories covering the life of Jesus, in which Dr. Banks has endeavored to fill a few of the "Silent places in the Gospels"—stories, he says, "as they might have been." Necessarily the stories are fiction, and more entertaining in that they are in conversational style. Beautifully illustrated with 21 selections from the world's masterpieces (frontispiece in colors). 12mo, cloth, 310 pages. $2, net.

PUSSY WILLOW'S NAUGHTY KITTENS

By LILLIAN E. YOUNG

A fascinating story and picture book. The story is simple and delightfully told, with plenty of happy and amusing incidents, to insure enraptured attention. The 19 multicolor illustrations are not only beautiful but through a new and unique arrangement are especially appealing to children. Prominent in several of the full-page illustrations are doors so arranged that they may be opened, exposing the characters in the illustrations on the following page. In this way the child's interest is kept at fever heat for finding out what new surprise awaits behind these closed doors. 8¾ inches wide and 10¾ inches high. 19 illustrations in colors. Aluminum cutting panel included. Cloth, $2, net.

This valuable textbook has been completely revised to conform to the reorganization of the work of the Presbyterian Church.

THE WORK OF THE PASTOR. By Charles R. Erdman, D.D.

Price, probably $1.50

This book is the result of Dr. Erdman's sixteen years of pastoral service and eighteen years of teaching Pastoral Theology in Princeton Theological Seminary. Under the guidance of Dr. Erdman other qualified Presbyterian writers contributed to the book in accordance to the plan of the work, but it suffers no denominational bias. Its chief field of usefulness will naturally be the theological seminary, but every alert, evangelical minister will want to study the book and gauge his attainments by it.

IF I WERE YOUNG AGAIN. By Amos R. Wells, Litt.D., LL.D.

Price, 40 cents

Instead of this being an invitation to young peope to look ahead over their own routes, the viewpoint taken by the author is that the reader stands beside him, who reviews his own mistakes and wise choices.

NEW FALL BOOKS FROM DORRANCE

DAUGHTERS OF EVE
By Ellery H. Clark
Author of "Loaded Dice," "The Money Gods," etc.

A story of sex, of college life and business life, of college sports. Mr. Clark dedicates it "with admiration, contempt, hostility and deep affection to the Daughters of Eve—those strange creatures, half angel, half devil, who make men's lives both a torment and a joy." Full cloth, colored tops. $2.00

THE REPRISAL
By William H. Hull

A tale of the West so real one can feel the heat and the sun-glare, the sting of the sand storm. Full cloth. $2.00

MATOAKA
By William Grant Burleigh

The story of the fight for a finer Americanism, set in the romantic background of Kentucky hills. Full cloth. $1.75
